PREFACE.

It was not altogether intentional, this becoming the historian of the family here essayed to be shown genealogically. To explain let me say ; incidentally making inquiry for some one to look at sundry records of Middlesex county, Conn., for the purpose of learning the names of certain of my own line of progenitors, I was referred to the late Hon. Edwin Stearns of Middletown, Conn. This gentleman having a taste for such research, Edwin Stearns an extensive acquaintance and an ample library to consult, and with leisure also, offered to collect, for a mere nominal compensation, all the facts relating to our family, readily attainable in that neighborhood, from public or private records, from living witnesses and printed books. It is scarcely necessary to say that I requested him to proceed, and the result was (excepting some errors and inaccuracies) a fair beginning for a genealogical history of the descendants of our paternal emigrant ancestor, comprising several hundred names. Having thus formed for me the groundwork or foundation upon which I might build, should the materials be tolerably well gathered, a somewhat colossal superstructure, I very naturally, as genealogists at least will understand, fell into the desire of knowing something more of the matter.

It is perhaps unfortunate, that some other of the family (in place of leaving it for the present compiler) had not at an earlier period, say a half century before, caught the mania for doing this genealogy. One with the proper zeal and plenty of pocket money to pay expense of travel, might have saved from the mists of oblivion, not a few now lost branches, and regarding particularly the earlier generations, a more complete record.

But if the compiler of this volume at length voluntarily assumed the self-sacrificing office, he can perhaps have little cause for complaint, if in the twenty-five years past, he has appropriated much time and labor to the work, including thousands of letters written, and withal not a few dollars expended, for which he must of necessity, be in great part a loser.

Upon the whole, I think that the families herein displayed may very reasonably feel themselves obliged to me for the service; yet at the risk of losing half the credit for the philanthropy of the thing, I will be frank enough to say, that had not the research been a pleasurable pursuit, there would be no occasion for a vote of thanks to the undersigned, by the present generation, nor by the many which will no doubt succeed it.

It is proper here to mention the fact that the name of our family has gained, or suffered various mutations in form since the settlement of our early ancestor at Wethersfield, Ct., some 250 years ago. The fancies, I believe, of some have occasionally wrought changes for which the excuse does not appear.

It was necessary for the compiler to adopt in this volume, some common form of the name, and whether he has judged properly and hit upon the true, original orthography or not is yet perhaps undetermined. We have no knowledge of the antecedents of our ancestor Thomas across the Atlantic. None, I dare say, will change the mode of spelling the name from anything said in this book, nor is it perhaps desirable, on account of identity in years to come.

In the progress of my investigations, I met members of a family distinct from ours, whose emigrant ancestor William Hulbert (of Roxbury and Northampton, Mass.) though cotem-porary with our own progenitor, was not of kin as far as known. As many individuals of both lines, however, use the same mode of spelling the name, it was important to collect the facts regarding the said William's family, and place the record by itself for reference, to avoid confusion. The descendants of William Hulbert are far less numerous than those of Thomas. It is is probable that the record of the family of William Hulbert which I have gathered will be published.

The vignette which appears on our title-page is borrowed from the compiler's book-mark ; its use is to be shared between them ; it is perhaps not inappropriate, symbolizing as it does an incident in our ancestor's experience at Saybrook.

I have received from a number of our family, copies and a description of a coat of arms taken from some English volume of Heraldry, supposed by my correspondents, or suggested by them, that we had some proper claim and interest in the ornament. As far as I can see we have no right to the coat spoken of. The subject is further referred to, and a drawing of the arms given in the Introduction. The fact is with very few exceptions, the early emigrants to New England, the founders of a great share of our American lines, were plebians; that large and respectable class of common people, who with their descendants, subdued, settled, and christianized New England and much of America. As a matter to be proud of, we need scarcely attempt to look after a lineage more noble than we have at home, beginning when our ancestors first placed foot upon American soil. It is true that it would be gratifying to our curiosity at least, could we be furnished with a series of photographic pictures, and a faithful description of our ancestors in the old world, running back to the days before the use of spinning-wheel and loom, when our fore-fathers were clad in skins.

I am writing in the belief that our progenitors over the sea were merely honest burghers or plodders of the soil, bearing no taint of disreputable act, which had won high place or title, or castles, or manors achieved by cruelty and crime. I would by no means be led to be uncharitable, but I have little respect for that horde of filibusters, whose services were rewarded with the avails of robbery, by that prince of plunder, William of Normandy.

It was deemed expedient, for the better order of the volume, to place the families of female branches in the Appendix.

Much care has beeen taken to copy accurately the items procured, and when statements were found to conflict, the most reasonable were chosen, though in this, as in other conclusions, I cannot expect entire immunity from error.

Loose and unreliable tradition, in place of written family record, has imposed much labor in verifying some reports and rejecting others; yet I have succeeded in finding living representatives, descendants of the six sons of our emigrant ancestor, Thomas, of Wethersfield.

Quite a number of pages or records of families, supposed to be our kinsman (the descendants of Thomas Hurlbut), which as yet are not fully identified, wanting a missing link of one name perhaps, are placed in the Appendix for future reference and search by parties interested.

I would make my sincere thanks to the numerous persons who have furnished me with information; yet not a few of those that have extended to me such favors, have passed beyond the acceptance of this acknowledgment, and their forms rest in the stillness of the grave. I must not omit to say that from the class of correspondents known as genealogists, I have received marked and painstaking favors; particularly are those kindnesses noticeable, coming from those not of the family. I need not recite their names, but will just speak of

as prominent for his numerous items, the scores upon scores of letters filled with facts, sought and ransacked for, among old documents, public and private, in crannies and cupboards, or in the memories of the aged; very useful to me was the knowledge he secured and so kindly gave.

I finish here all that seems to be demanded of me in this compilation; whatever I may have left undone, must devolve upon others.

HENRY H. HURLBUT.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 5th, 1888.

INTRODUCTION.

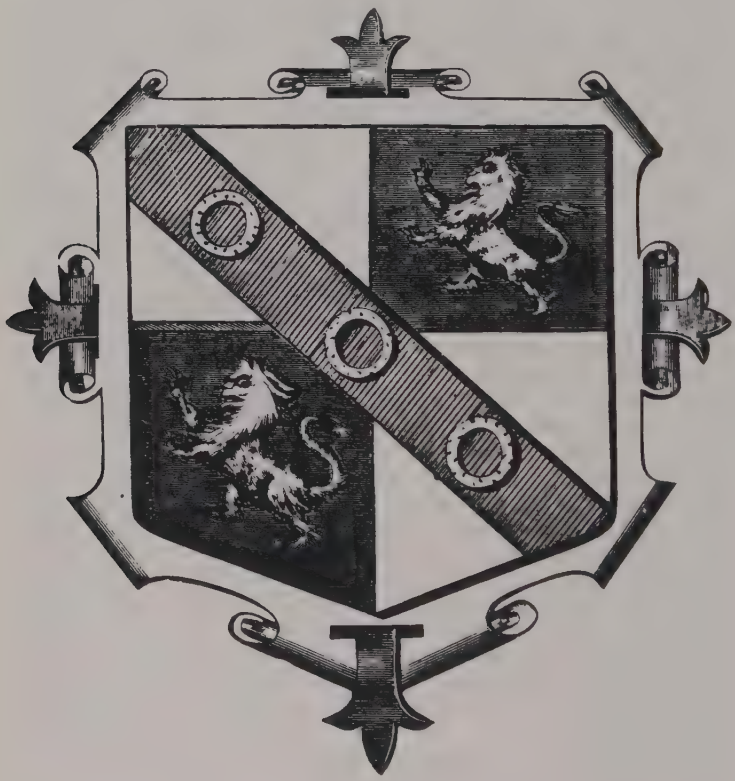
The home of the parents of our emigrant ancestor, (whose Christian name was Thomas) whether in England, Scotland, or Wales, has not been revealed to us; yet it is reasonably supposed that it was somewhere upon that Island. Neither do we know the form in which those parents spelled their surname, nor indeed in what mode Thomas himself wrote the patronymic, after his arrival on this side of the Atlantic. It cannot be proven by early records, and if there were such records, the scribes of that day were often rather careless in their orthography, or at least were quaint and peculiar. It would seem that the atmosphere of the new world gave freedom to their pens, and not unfrequently originality to their autographs. This however is my suggestion merely, and I will now speak of some reports received in my correspondence during some years past. There is, of course, often to be met, the old story of the "three brothers" that came over, but the number for my enlightenment has occasionally been varied from two to four, though one old lady assured me according to her understanding of the matter, there were "seven brothers Hurlbuts who landed at Plymouth." One gentleman in Ohio wrote me that he had the tradition from his father that our emigrant progenitor was Welsh. Another, living in New York, had understood that the family was from Wales, and the name formerly was Hulburdt. Another very old gentleman says, that his uncle told him that the Hurlburts came from Scotland or Northumberland, England.

It was the suggestion of one intelligent individual that our name is an abbreviation of what was formerly Haliburton.

One correspondent wrote me, "I may say a word about our "misspelt surname, having counted some twenty errors from "Holabird to Hurlburt. The origin of the name ought to cor- "rect this. From a work by Bardsley, published in London in "1873, entitled 'Our English Surnames,' which you may have "seen, it appears that ours belongs to the class of nicknames "like Shakespeare. We are named after an old instrument of "war, called a Whirlbat. I think this can be found in "Webster's Dictionary; it was an instrument held or hurled "by the hand. * * * * There is no chance for "a second r, nor for omitting the r in the first syllable. * "* * * I think we came of a fighter, one who "never gave up when in the right, without a fight."

Not a few communications addressed to me, have shown the great confidence of the writers in some story they had heard, relating to an "immense fortune" awaiting for the family, only needing to be proved up," and I have been questioned if that was not the purpose of my research, and wanting to know regarding the prospect of getting our fingers on the coin.

I have in the Preface noticed the fact that a deep interest had been exhibited with some of our relatives, in reference to a Coat of Arms, and I have now lying before me by the favors of various of our cousins, six small drawings in different manner of finish, of the Arms, of which a copy of one is given below.



"Granted to Justice George Hurlbert, March, 1639. Quarterly Argent and Sable in the sinister chief and dexter base, each a lion rampant, or over all a bend gules, charged with the amulets of the third."

The description I copy as it was sent me; whether correct or not, is more than I can determine. Drawings of the arms were made many years ago, for persons in America, descendants of our ancestor Thomas, who have honestly, yet unwittingly, had the faith to believe themselves among the true heirs of the decoration. Those drawings, which were as I have learned, on parchment or large sized paper, I have no doubt, still, or at least some of them, hang upon the walls of the dwellings of representatives of the mistaken claimants. I am constrained to believe that there is a fascination pertaining to the pretty bauble. Yet, how the progeny of Thomas Hurlbut of Wethersfield, who came to America certainly as early as 1636, can lay claim to coat-armor granted to Justice George Hulbert of England in 1639, in no manner proven, nor claimed to be a relative, I am not able to perceive. Frequent stories have been told, that this, that, and some other gentleman had visited England, and verified the statements of our relationship to certain English families, but unluckily for credence, no names or other particulars of affinity have at any time appeared.

It will be proper here to say that while one polite gentleman of our large family, sent me an impression of his Seal, bearing the arms as above, with some additions of his own, including a scriptural motto, another equally polite, forwarded a photograph of an heir loom in his family of which he was the possessor, being a silver goblet with said arms thereon engraved. The existence of the aforesaid heirloom, did not however precede the time of our Revolution.

At the risk of being tedious, I will add a paragraph or two, copied from letters of relatives and correspondents, and close this notice of the Arms. An old gentleman, (since passed away) wrote as follows: "My grandfather in some way procured from England a parchment with a hereditary title on it in print, of or for some ancestor or something or somebody (you see I do not know what) but I can just remember it. On it was printed the name Hulbert. What became of it I don't know. It was in a fine frame, and hung up in the front room; we had no parlors in those days."

Another member of the family, a descendant of the same "grandfather" prefaces his reference to the Arms, by the remark that it may be "rather a hazardous thing to follow back the line of one's ancestry, for the reason that we might find some one or more of them had reached a point of elevation, that would'nt add much to the family pride."

Of the parchment, he says: "I haven't seen it for some years; about all I can recollect of it is a lion and unicorn rampant. Whether descriptive of the celebrated battle in which the Lion beat the Unicorn all about the town, I can't say; nor do I know whether any of my progenitors lost or won anything on the issue of the fight."

The computation of time by the Christian era was first introduced by the Abbot Dionysius, but the precise year when this was done has been at variance among historians. Dr. Blair placed it in the year 516, Prideaux in 527, and Beda (whom Dr. Holmes thinks gives it correctly) says the year 567. In the year 1752, the hitherto Old Style of the Julian Calendar, by which the year began 25th March, was abolished in England by Act of Parliament, and by which the first day of January was made the commencement of the year. On the day following the 2d of September, 1752, it was to be called the 14th, being eleven days added, or the time pushed so far ahead. Hence the New Style took the place of the Old, and upon many of the New England records of births, etc, which had occurred previous to the passage of that Act, happening between January 1st and March 25th, an additional year was placed to distinguish the time according to the new regulation. I have made my entries, agreeable to the information and figures procured; in the early part of the record herein given, occasionally will appear the additional year referred to, in manner for example, say March, 4, $171\frac{3}{4}$.

The plan of this Genealogy will be readily understood without much explanation. Thomas Hurlbut is given as Number 1, and every descendant of the name of Hurlbut, whose name was received in time to be marshalled in the regular line, has a number. When further notice of any individual is continued, it is indicated by the plus mark +

The number of generations in America, preceding each head of a family, are represented by the line of paternal progenitors beginning with the emigrant Thomas. The female descendants with families are generally transferred to the Appendix.

Their descendants are numbered if they were received in time for such figures.

The various Indexes provided will no doubt be sufficient ; they are as follows :

Descendants of Thomas of the name Hurlbut.

Names of wives of ditto, before marriage.

Names of husbands other than Hurlbut.

Names of persons not identified as the progeny of Thomas Hurlbut.

The following are various abbreviations used in this volume :

b. born ; bel. believed ; ch. child or children ; ch'h. church ; d. died ; dau. daughter ; f. father ; fam. family ; gent. gentleman ; grad. graduate or graduated ; h. husband ; m. married or marriage ; mem. member ; mo. month ; per. perhaps ; prob. probably ; rec. records ; rem. removed ; rev. revolution ; res. residence, residing or resided ; sup. supposed ; unm. unmarried ; w. wife ; wid. widow.

GENEALOGY.

1 Thomas Hurlbut came across the Atlantic, it is supposed, in the year 1635, for he was a soldier under Lion Gardiner, who built and had command of the fort at Saybrook, Conn. Lion Gardiner, it is said, was an Englishman, and by profession an engineer, and had been in Holland in the service of the Prince of Orange, but was engaged by the proprietors of the Connecticut Patent, issued by Charles II. to Lord Say and Seal, Lord Brooke and others, granting a large tract of territory on the banks of the Connecticut river, to erect a fortification at its mouth. Gardiner, said Judge Savage, embarked at London in the Bachilor, of only 25 tons, 11 August, 1635, with his wife and female servant, and eleven male passengers, and after a long and tempestuous voyage, arrived at Boston 28 of following November. It is believed, however, that Gov. Winthrop told that Gardiner sailed in a Norsey barque (a fishing vessel of the coast of Norway), 10 July, 1635. It is supposed that Thomas Hurlbut was one of the 11 passengers above referred to; but who his parents were, or when or where he was born, we have not been able to learn. We may yet pretty confidently believe that his birth occurred as early as the year 1610, and I am more inclined to believe that he was a native of Scotland than I am able, perhaps, to show satisfactory evidence for such belief. Mr. Hurlbut while at Saybrook, in an encounter with the Pequot Indians in 1637, was wounded by an arrow. This appears in a letter of Lion Gardiner, written in June, 1660, some 23 years after the skirmish with the Indians, addressed to Robert Chapman and Thomas Hurlbut, detailing incidents regarding the Pequot war, as far as came within his personal knowledge. Capt. Gardiner, in the communication named, says that Mr. Robert Chapman, Thomas Hurlbut and Major Mason urged him to do it, "and having rumaged and found some old papers then written, it was a great help to my memory." The document laid in manuscript until 1833 (173 years) when it was printed in Vol. 3, 3d Ser. of Mass. Historical Soc. Colls. The following is an extract :

"In the 22d of February, I went out with ten Men and three Dogs, Half a Mile from the House (Fort), to burn the Weeds, Leaves and Reeds upon the Neck of Land, because we had felled twenty timber trees, which we were to roll to the Water-side to bring home, every Man carrying a Length of Match with Brimstone-matches with him to kindle the Fire withal. But when we came to the small of the Neck, the Weeds burning, I having before this set two Sentinels on the small of the Neck, I called to the Men that were burning the Reeds to come away, but they would not until they had burnt up the rest of their Matches. Presently there starts up four Indians out of the fiery Reeds, but they ran away, I calling to the rest of our Men to come away out of the Marsh. Then Robert Chapman and Thomas Hurlbut, being Sentinels, called to me, saying there came a Number of Indians out of the other side of the Marsh. Then I went to stop them, that they should not get the Woodland ; but Thomas Hurlbut cried out to me that some of the Men did not follow me, for Thomas Rumble and Arthur Branch threw down their two Guns and ran away ; then the Indians shot two of them that were in the Reeds, and sought to get between us and Home, but durst not come before us, but kept us in a Half moon, we retreating and exchanging many a Shot, so that Thomas Hurlbut was shot almost through the Thigh, John Spencer in the back into his Kidneys, myself into the Thigh, two more shot dead. But in our Retreat, I kept Hurlbut and Spencer still before us, we defending ourselves with our naked Swords, or else they had taken us all alive, so that the two sore wounded Men, by our slow Retreat, got home with their Guns, when our two sound Men ran away and left their Guns behind them."

Gardiner does not mention his estimate of the number of the assailants, but Underwood, in his History, says there were "a hundred or more."

Mr. Hurlbut was by trade a blacksmith, and after the war with the Pequots, he located and established himself in business at Wethersfield, Ct., and was one of the early settlers of that place, as well as first blacksmith. A single extract from the Colonial Records would seem to indicate that he was a good workman and charged a good price for his work: "March 2, 1642. Thomas Hallibut was fined 40 shillings for encouraging others in taking excessive rates for work and ware." But this fine appears to have been "respited" Feb. 5, 1643, upon Peter Bassaker's tryal to make "nayles" with less loss and cheaper rates.

He seems to have been a man of good standing in the place; he was Clerk of the "Train Band" in 1640, Deputy to the General Court, Grand Juror and also Constable in 1644. It appears on the records that he received various tracts of land in the several divisions of the Town, which were recorded together in 1647. In 1660 the Town of Wethersfield granted Thomas Hurlbut Lot 39, one of the "four score acre lots" (in Naubuc, east side of the river), which he afterward sold to Thomas Hollister. For his services in the Indian wars, the Assembly voted him a grant of 120 acres of land Oct. 12, 1671. It is supposed that Mr. Hurlbut died soon after the last named date, as no evidence appears that the land was set off to him during his life. In that early day of the Colony, land was plenty and cheap, and no attempt appears to have been made to avail himself of the bounty, nor even by his sons; it was not until 1694, on the petition of John Hurlbut, Jr., of Middletown, a grandson of the settler and soldier, that it was set off.

It is told, and the tradition is not an unreasonable one to credit, that the house in Wethersfield, Ct., where Miss Harriet Mitchell resides in 1888, stands upon the site of the dwelling of the first Hurlbut who lived in the settlement. (Miss M. is said to be of the 6th generation from her ancestor Thomas Hurlbut.) That house of the early settler, as tradition gives, had peculiar attractions for the Indians, whether with the purpose to inspect the architecture of the edifice, or else to get a view of the proprietor of the mansion, for he had been an Indian fighter formerly, I cannot say; but often, when in the village, they were to be seen looking curiously in at the windows.

The Christian name of the wife of Mr. Hurlbut was Sarah, but nothing further is known; no date of birth, marriage, nor death. The dates of birth of five of their six sons are missing; whether there were any daughters or not, is not known. During the contention that existed in the Church of Wethersfield, the early records of both of the Town and Church, it is understood, disappeared.

2 Thomas Hurlbut, Jr.[2] (Thomas[1]) was probably born in Wethersfield, Ct., but the date not ascertained. He learned the blacksmith's trade of his father and succeeded him in the business. He married (1) Lydia ———, married (2) Elizabeth ———. The town of Wethersfield 11 March, 1662, voted him a piece of land to set a shop upon. By the inventory of the estate of Thomas Hurlbut, Jr., of Wethersfield dated March 6, $168\frac{9}{0}$ (Probate Court Records, Hartford), it appears that he died in Sept., 168$\frac{8}{9}$. Appended to the Inventory, are the names of his wife and three children. He left widow Elizabeth, and sons Timothy 9 years, Nathaniel 7 years, and Ebenezer 4 years, besides an older son Thomas. His brother Stephen was appointed administrator. His estate £57, 19*s.*, including blacksmith tools, household furniture, &c., and "8 shillings due from Thomas, Jr." (meaning his son no doubt) was declared non-solvent. I could not fall in with the suggestion of the late Hon. Edwin Stearns, that Thomas (son of the emigrant) did not enter into family estate until middle life, and that his first wife was the mother of all his children. Thomas was about fifty years old probably at his death; my belief is that the first wife was the mother of the son Thomas third (called "Thomas Jr."), in the Inventory, who became a resident of Woodbury, Ct., and that the three other children were those of the second wife. I venture to so record them here:

3 John Hurlbut[2] (Thomas[1]) was b. (prob. in Wethersfield, Ct.), 8 Mar., 1642. He learned the trade of blacksmith of his father, and after becoming of age, he worked at Wethersfield and also at Killingworth. At the age of 27, he received a proposition from settlers then planting the town of Middletown, to locate among them with his business, "and do the Town's work of smithing for seven years." He joined in such a contract, bearing date 25 Oct., 1669, and which he faithfully kept. He m. 15 Dec., 1670, Mary Deming, dau of John and Honor (Treat) Deming of Wethersfield. She was b. 1655; joined ch'h in Middletown 5 Sept., 1675. Mr. Hurlbut was industrious and successful in his occupation, and he became a large landholder. and one of the prominent men of the place. He was made freeman in 1671, and held the office and title of Sargent among the citizen soldiers. Sargent John Hurlbut d. at middle age ; according to the Town Records 30 April, 1690, but by the Probate Court Records (prob. more reliable) his death occurred 30 August, of that year, aged 48. He made no will, but the inventory of his property was presented 9 Sept., 1690. Mary his widow with Capt. Nathaniel White, were appointed to administer ; but as one child was yet unborn, the court ordered that "there shall be no distribution now made." The estate appears as follows : £373, s. 15, d. 6 ; his house, shop and home lot £100, other lots £160, cattle &c., £46, smith's tools and iron £10. "June 19, 1696, the Court being desired," the estate was distributed. The wid. Mary was to have half the personal property, and one-third of the real estate during life ; eldest son John to have a double portion, the other children a single one. The time of death of the widow is not learned ; but few gravestones had inscriptions as early, and no deaths appear to have been recorded on the church books, until after that period.

4 Samuel Hurlbut[2] (Thomas[1]), was b. (prob. in Wethersfield in or near 1644). His occupation was farming, and he first settled in Wethersfield. and he bought 27 Dec., 1668, a house and home lot of John Goodrich, and he owned other lots in the town. His wife's name was Mary ———, but there appears no record of his marriage. His name appears as a resident of Wethersfield in 1692. A Samuel Hurlbut died in Wethersfield in 1712, which may have been him, though he may have removed to Farmington as has been suggested, where some of his family were living. There is no record of his estate having been probated, nor of his own death, or of Mrs. Hurlbut.

5 Joseph Hurlbut[2] (Thomas[1]) (prob. b. in Wethersfield about 1646). He removed to Woodbury, Ct., with his family, and was living there in 1682 and perhaps earlier. His wife was Rebecca ———. In history of Woodbury, the names of the children are given with dates of baptism when at adult age, from which it is inferred that they were born elsewhere. Joseph Hurlbut, Sen., and his four sons were living in Woodbury in April, 1712, when their names appear on the rate-list for the "North purchase." Mrs. Hurlbut d. in Woodbury, Ct., 2 Feb., 1712. He was prob. the "Joseph Hurlbut the aged," as appears on the records as having died in Woodbury, 13 July, 1732.

Reg. vol. 18, p. 58), he m. on that day Phebe ———. He seems to have been twice married. It is believed that he was a mechanic. The town of Wethersfield granted Stephen Hurlbut 23 Feb., 1694, "a piece of land 8 feet in breadth, 70 feet in length, flanking upon his own Lot next his house to set a shop upon." We find no record of the death of Mr. Hurlbut, nor of either of his wives' death.

8 Thomas Hurlbut 3d[3] (Thomas, Jr.,[2] Thomas[1]), was b. (quite likely in Wethersfield, Ct., in or about 1660). His mother is presumed to have been the first wife of his father, and he is supposed to have left Wethersfield at or near the time of his father's 2d m. He appears to have been at Woodbury, Ct., previous to 1682, and was living there in 1698, as he sold land there that year. The name of his wife or the date of his m. we have not secured.

10 Nathaniel Hurlbut[3] (Thomas[2], Jr., Thomas[1]) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., in or about 1682, being 7 years old at time of his father's death in Sept., 1689. It is told, prob. with truth, that after his father's death he was taken by his Uncle Joseph Hurlbut of Woodbury, Ct., where he lived until manhood. His name appears upon the list of freemen, and he was taxed in Woodbury in 1712. He m. (1) 19 Oct., 1708, Sarah Jenner. Mr. Cothren gives from the records of Woodbury, the death of Sarah the w. of Nathan Hurlbut, June 10, 1722. I am inclined to think she was the first w. of Nathaniel instead of Nathan. Sarah w. of Nathaniel was admitted to the Cong'l ch'h of Woodbury, 26 July, 1713, she having owned the Covenant, 25 July, 1708. I learned from Mr. Stearns, that Nathaniel settled in Simsbury, Ct. (Turkey Hills) not later than 1725. He m. (2) Mary Halliday in Suffield, Ct., 9 Jan, 172⅞. He d. in Simsbury, 1 June, 1756. Admin. was granted on his estate to his wid. Mary and Reuben Hurlbut, son of deceased. Inventory dated 23 July, 1756; Estate £89, s. 11; Jan. 3, 1758, the Probate Court ordered that the 10 acres of land in Woodbury, on petition of Mary the wid., be sold to pay the debts. May 9, 1759, the wid. Mary then of Farmington (prob.

her native place), presented the administrator's account, when the land at Woodbury and Turkey Hills had been sold.

12 John Hurlbut, Jr.[3] (John[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Middletown, Ct., 8 Dec., 1671. He was a farmer and occupied the house and land given him by his father. He was admitted to the ch'h 6 Jan., 1731. In 1734 he sold all his right to the lands east side of Conn. river (in Chatham) to John Churchill. In 1694, John Hurlbut, Jr., petitioned the General Assembly to appoint a committee to lay out the grant of 120 acres of land made to his grandfather Thomas Hurlbut, Sen., of Wethersfield, the emigrant ancestor of the family. "John Collins and John Bacon of Middletown were appointed to lay out the Lot, where said John Hurlbut shall direct them, not interfering with other grants, at John Hurlbut's charge."—State Rec. He m. 8 July, 1698, Rebecca Warner (b. 2 July, 1675), dau. of Lt. Andrew, Jr., and Rebecca Warner of Middletown. She joined the ch'h 13 Nov., 1715. Mrs. Hurlbut died before her husband. The date of his death I have not ascertained; his will was dated 14 March, 1752, and proven 1 Sept., 1753. His son John and son-in-law Jacob Whitmore were his executors. To son John he gave the bond in the hands of John Hamlin, and the land where he had erected a house (with the home lot) upon the east side of the river (Chatham) with also all his interest in the undivided lands in Wethersfield. He left legacies to dau. Rebecca, wife of Jacob Whitmore; to grand-son John Hurlbut, a minor, son of John 3d; to the children of 2d son Daniel, viz: Susanna and Hannah, lands, and £15 to Esther.

14 Thomas Hurlbut[3] (John[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Middletown, Ct., 20 Oct., 1674. He was a blacksmith and after his father's death occupied the homestead, with also the original smithery, on the town lots, given to his father in 1669.

He is said to have been a man of industry and integrity, a large land-holder, and a prominent man in the town. He m. 15 Dec., 1705, Martha (b. 26 Dec., 1674) dau. of Rev. Nathl. and Mary (Whiting) Collins. She was admitted to the ch'h, 25 May, 1712 ; she d. 7 Jan., 1748. He d. 3 Feb., 1752. 18 Ebenezer Hurlbut[3] (John, Sen.[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Middletown, Ct., 17 Jan. 1683. He was a farmer and occupied lands which were formerly a part of his father's estate, upon the east side of the river in Chatham now Portland, and was living there in 1708 and 1720. He m. 4 May 1709, Sarah Dickens of Chatham ; she was admitted to the ch'h in that town 21 April 1717 ; she d. July 29, 1742, aged 58. He d. in East Haddam, Ct., 15 Dec. 1766, where he was perhaps living with his dau. Abigail (Mrs. Elijah White) whose home was there. The inscription in the oldest burying-ground in the town, erroneously gives his age as 87 years.

20 David Hurlbut[3] (John[2], Thomas[1]) was born in Middletown, Ct., 11 August 1688. He also was a blacksmith, having learned the trade of his father, and the first one, it is said of that occupation at Upper Houses (now town of Cromwell) where he first settled. There was laid out to him in the North Society, 15 March, 1712, four acres of land. In 1727, with Samuel Tracy, he rented a grist-mill for eight years. In 1730 he sells Daniel Hurlbut in South Lots, Middletown. In 1734 he sold his house and lands in Upper Houses, for £210, and moved to Chatham, Midddle Haddam Soc'y. He owned considerable land in the Long Lots near the above named village, portions of which he deeded to his children as they married and settled. He m. (1) 22 Sept. 1709, Mary Savage, (b. 11 Feb. 1691) dau. of John, Jr. and Mary Savage of Upper Houses. The names of David Hurlbut and Mary his wife, appears second on the first list of church members on the formation of the "2d church in Middletown," (Upper Houses) 1715. April 28, 1740, Mrs Mary Hurlbut, wife of David, was recommended to the church in Middle Haddam. In 1744, he removed to Groton opposite New London, Ct., and purchased property there in 1746 ; he returned however to Middle Haddam after 1760. The date of the death of his wife Mary is not learned, but he m. (2) in Middle Haddam, Mercy ———. He died 29 Oct. 1773, on the farm, as I am told, which he deeded in 1761 to his son Gideon, and where (in 1861) resides Jesse Hurlbut, son of Gideon, in what is now Portland, Ct. His will was proven 26 Nov. 1773.

26 Jonathan Hurlbut[3] (Samuel[2], Thomas[1]) was born in Wethersfield, Ct., 2 Mar., 1677. He settled in Farmington, Kensington parish (now town of Berlin), adjoining Wethersfield. He m. (1) 27 July, 1699, Sarah Webb; m. (2) Abiah ———. The following is taken from the records: "6 Dec. 1716," the Great Swamp (Kensington Socy.) voted to Jonathan Hurlbut 19 shillings, for a journey to New Haven to "Cort," and to Hartford and other expences, "as witness our hands, Thomas North, Thomas Hart." "Dec. 4, 1721, Jonathan Hurlbut was released with all his taxable estate from paying parish charges." He seems to have been a worthy man, and of some prominence in town matters. There is a tradition that he was a physician, but this story lacks confirmation. He d. April, 1730. His will, recorded in the office of the Probate Court at Hartford, is dated March 28, 1730, and the inventory presented 17 April following. Estate £716. He named in his will widow Abiah, also nine children; son Stephen to have his lot in Middletown, and 100 acres east end of the homestead, where he lives in Kensington; son Jonathan to have so much of his house lot as amounts to £5. The balance of lands in Kensington he gave to sons Isaac and James, and the remainder of his lands in Middletown he gave to his four daughters.

Calvin Hurlbut bought of Commissioners of town of Farmington, a highway at the "Blew Hills," 1782. He also sold 15 acres of land to Gideon Judd, 5 March 1783. This was near the Southington town line. 43 Joseph Hurlbut[3] (Stephen[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 10 July 1683. He was a farmer and settled in Newington Soc., in the town of Wethersfield, Ct. Married 27 April 1704, Sybil Fitch, dau. of Thomas and Abigail Fitch of Wethersfield. Joseph and his wife were members of the Newington church in 1747. He d. 24 June 1752, and was buried in Newington ch'h burying-ground, where the monument and inscription could be seen a few years since. Mrs. Hurlbut died before her husband, but the date is not learned.

44 Benjamin Hurlbut[3] (Stephen[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 29 Oct. 1685. It is presumed that he settled in Wethersfield. On the ch'h records is seen the entry of the baptism of a dau. of a Benjamin Hurlbut, supposed to be this gentleman. Name of wife, and other particulars not learned.

182 Honor, bap. in Wethersfield, Ct., 12 March 173½.

47 John Hurlbut[3] (Cornelius[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 27 Jan. 1686. We are told by Mr. Hinman in the Gen. Reg., vol. 18, that this young man was lost together with all the crew of a vessel at sea, during a storm 22 Nov. 1701 ; he was not quite 16 years of age.

48 William Hurlbut[3] (Cornelius[2], Thomas[1]) was born in Wethersfield., Ct., 28 Mar. 1689. He settled in Wethersfield; m. 17 Apr. 1717, Susannah Bowen, of Wethersfield, dau. of Josiah. His will was dated 26 Feb. 1760, and he d. (as per record of the late James Hervey Hurlbut) 24 Mar. 1760. His ch. were named in the will, and his son William made executor. 51 Thomas Hurlbut 4th[3] (Thomas 3d[3], Thomas, Jr.[2], Thomas[1]) was bap. in Woodbury, Ct., Dec. 1684. It is reasonably supposed, from various circumstances, that he lived in Wilton, Ct., and is the same known and called "Thomas Holybort," who died 16 Sept. 1753, said to be aged 67 years, though 69 years would have been more correct. There seems scarce any doubt that this Thomas was the father of Daniel Hurlbut, Senr., of Wilton; whether he had other children we are not advised. It is proper to remark that many of the descendants of this Thomas, as well as those of Gideon his brother, wrote (and many still write) the family name Hurlbutt. Who the wife of Thomas was, I am not informed. I am advised, from the records, that "Thomas Holabord makes over to Fairfield" (now Weston) "8 May 1716" land in Fairfield, perhaps for road purposes. He was chosen with others by Wilton parish, "Dec. 8, 1735, to lay out a highway to the Ridge." It is believed by our correspondent Mr. Hoosear, that Thos. Hurlbut lived on or near what was since known as the old Hurlbut homestead, where Daniel, Senr. and Jr. lived, and may have both been born.

189. Daniel, b. (prob. as early as 1710). +

52 Gideon Hurlbut[4] (Thomas 3d[3], Thomas, Jr.[2], Thos.[1]) was born in Woodbury, Ct., bap. in do. 1688.

He removed to town of Westport, or perhaps to that part of the present town of Westport known as Green's Farms, about 2 miles east of the village. Green's Farms, as I am informed by Rev. J. E. Coley, was formerly a part of Fairfield, and was called Bankside in the early days of Connecticut. Mr. H. m. Margaret ———; she d. 28 Feb. 1754, in her 54th year; he died 9 Mar. 1757, in his 70th year, and both were buried in Green's Farms graveyard. His descendants generally write their name Hurlbutt.

[It is proper to add here that the children of Gideon given above, in part, it is likely, or perhaps all of them, were born in what is now Westport, Ct., and that the order of ages as their names are placed above may not be altogether correct. Furthermore, the names of 2 daughters, it is suggested, may possibly have been those of the Gideon above named ; I refer to Rebecca Hurlbut, who m. 21 Jan. $174\frac{8}{7}$, Shubael Gorham.

Elizabeth Hurlbut, of Fairfield, who m. Mar. 8, $174\frac{8}{9}$, Joseph Ketchum, of Norwalk, Ct.

56 Timothy Hurlbut[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thomas, Jr.[2], Thos.[1]) was born in Woodbury, Ct., 2 July 1716, and bap. same mo.

Very little is known of this Timothy, but it is believed that he lived in Roxbury, Ct., and d. in that town 19 Jan. 1782.

58 Nathaniel Hurlbut Jr.[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thomas, Jr.[2], Thomas[1]) was bap. in Woodbury, Ct., 17 Nov. 1728.

A Nathaniel Hurlbut was a resident of Southbury Soc. (a part of ancient Woodbury) in 1751, perhaps this same gent. Robert Harris, of Springfield, Mass., deeded land in Suffield, Ct., to Nathaniel Hurlbut, of Woodbury, proby. this individual, as his father had removed to Simsbury some years before.

His (1) w. was prob. Barbara, who died 8 Dec. 1790, and m. (2) Martha Tomlinson.

He d. 20 Jan. 1819, "aged 91," according to Cothren, and his wid. d. 14 Jan. 1821, "aged 80."

194. Joel, bap. in W., 7 Apr. 1754. He prob. was the Joel who d. Roxbury, Ct., 18 Mar. 1781.

195. Hannah, bap. in W., 18 July, 1756.

[A Mary Hurlbert, of Guilford, Chenango Co., N. Y., claimed to be a descendant of this Nath., Jr. Her letter, of year 1829, addressed to another, does not tell who her father was.]

61 Reuben Hurlbut[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thomas, Jr.[2], Thos.[1]) was bap. in Woodbury, Ct., 10 Oct. 1736. He was administrator upon his father's estate in 1756, is believed to have res. in Woodbury. The name of Reuben appears in 1757 as belonging to Capt. Eben. Downs' military company, which, on alarm, marched to the relief of Fort Wm. Henry in that year. There was a Reuben Hurlbut from Connecticut at Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1772, possibly this gent. Somewhere it is told that Reuben Hurlbut, of Woodbury, m. Betty ———.

A grand neice of Reuben says he was captain in the Revolutionary army; doubted.

196. Comfort, b. in Woodbury, Ct., 4 May 1754. Possibly she m. Reuben Castle, of New Canaan, Ct., 7 Jan. 1798.

63 Ebenezer Hurlbut[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thos., Jr.[2], Thos.[1]) was bap. in Woodbury, Ct., 12 July 1741.

I know little of this Ebenezer; in each of the 2 military companies from Woodbury, Ct., which marched in 1757 for the relief of Ft. Wm. Henry, there appears the name of Ebenezer Hurlbut; prob. he was one of them, though quite a young man. One of same name, possibly him, d. in Roxbury, Ct., 10 Nov. 1788.

65 Thaddeus Hurlbut[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thos. Jr.[2], Thos.[1]) was bap. in Woodbury, Ct., 21 Sept. 1746.

He m. in Dalton, Mass., and served in the Revolutionary army. Mrs. H. died, it is said, when her son William was a young lad. Her name is not learned, nor the dates of death of either Mr. or Mrs. H. nor if there was more than one child.

67 John Hurlbut 3d[4] (John, Jr.[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was born in Middletown, Ct., 14 Oct. 1701.

He m. 11 June 1724, Elizabeth Sage (b. 9 Mar. 1701), dau of John Sage, of Middletown Upper Houses, now town of Cromwell. The father of Hurlbut deeded him, 9 Mar. 1724, land "where he hath erected a house," and other lots of upland. He was a farmer and became a large landholder. He was Lieutenant. Both Mr. and Mrs. H. were members of the ch'h in full communion, May 1741. I believe Lt H. was the same who was at the capture of Louisburg in 1745 (his name so appears on p. 380, V. 2 of Gen. Reg.), and that may perhaps account for his ownership of a part of a township in New Hampshire, referred to below.

The children of Lt. H. in legal proceeding, May 13, 1756, say that their father, then of Middletown, was indebted to Dr. Isaac Lee also of Middletown, £600, and that their father was owner of one-sixteenth part of a township of land in New Hampshire, called No. 2 or New Taunton, and the children quit claim the same to said Lee to cancel the debt. The transfer was signed Hezekiah, John, Jr., and Rebecca Hurlbut, Elisha Doane and wife Elizabeth and Jemima Wait. Hon. Edwin Stearns suggested to me, that as this conveyance was made some 19 years before the death of Lieut. H. that it was o be presumed that their father had become incompetent for business, from insanity or other calamity. He d. 24 March 1775, the death of Mrs. H. not learned.

after him by his son Thomas, was situated at the north end of Main st., Middletown, where the road turns to go to Hartford. In 1863 it had for many years been occupied by Mrs. Pratt. He d. 16 Oct. 1775. His son Thomas appointed admin. 22 Jan. 1776.

72 Nathaniel Hurlbut[4] (Thomas[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Middletown, Ct., 9 May 1708. As early as 1734, his father deeds him a piece of pasture land "for his attention and great care of him in his advanced age," subsequently he gave him 20 acres in "Long Hill" and 20 acres in Staddle Hill, and in 1743 a building Lot next adjoining the father's homestead. In 1754 Nathaniel sold 3 acres, west side of Town plat for £234. He is understood to have rem. to Sharon, Ct., and as late as 1781, then of Sharon, he deeded land to Thomas Hurlbut, of Middletown. It is proper, however, to note the possibility that the conveyance just named, may have been by Nathaniel a son or nephew of Sharon, instead of the gentleman we are speaking of. Nothing however is yet learned of his marriage, or of wife, or children, nor of his death.

73 Ebenezer Hurlbut[4] (Thomas[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Middletown, Ct., 8 Aug. 1711. He first settled in East Middletown, now town of Portland. He m. about 1734 Dorothy Brown (b. 12 Jan. 1715), dau. of John and Elizabeth Brown of East Middletown. She joined the ch'h 11 Sept.,

1737. In 1745 Ebenezer and wife Dorothy were living in Hanover, Morris Co., N. J., where he sold land in Middletown to John and Daniel Hall. He d. 9 June 1770.

[I have had some slight suspicion the last named (John) would possibly be proven to be the John who settled in Orange Co., N. Y., and raised a large family, the descendants of whom generally write the name Holbert. The identity however, I have not been able to establish.]

74 Samuel Hurlbut[4] (Thomas[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Middletown, Ct., 25 Feb. 1716. He m. 22 Jan. 1736, Sarah Hurlbut (b. 18 May 1716) dau. of Joseph and Sybil of Wethersfield. In 1739 he sold lands in Middletown to his brother Nathaniel. He rem. to Sharon, Ct, but 4 years after its first settlement; his name appears on the town records of Sharon in 1743, and he res. in the village many years, and the family for a period of more than 50 years. The name of Samuel Hurlbut is given by Barber's Hist. Coll., Conn., in a list of early settlers of the town, but says that he rem. from Lebanon, Ct., which I think a mistake; though it is barely possible he lived in L. a short time. Besides 2 ch. b. prob. in Middletown, it is quite likely there were others born in Sharon. Dates of death of Mr. or Mrs. H. I have not learned. Not having information of the dates of births of any (one excepted) of the ch., the order in which they are placed may be incorrect.

82. Ebenezer Hurlbut, Jun.[4] (Ebenezer[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in East Middletown, now Portland, Ct., 16 May 1725. He settled in his native town ; m. (1) 2 Feb. 1743, Sarah Clark ; m. (2) Katurah ——— supposed Brown, as by the following bequest. "July 12, 1752," Nathaniel Brown wills one-half of his real estate and his house, "in consideration of the paternal love I bear for my only son Ebenezer Hurlbut, Jr., of Middletown." One account says his wife was Katurah Pelton ; possibly she was a widow when she m. Mr. H. She d. 20 Mar. 1766, and was buried in the old "Quarry Burying-ground," by the side of his 1st w., where there is a table-stone erected. Mr. H. at one time owned much real-estate on Main street in Chatham Landing, leading from Middletown Ferry to Churchill's Landing, besides extensive vessel interests. The homestead in 1855 was occupied by Mr. Bidwell, and stood nearly opposite the Episcopal church. After the death of Mr. Hurlbut's 2d w., the family was broken up, the children going to live with various uncles and aunts. He He m. (3) 4 Jan. 1769, wid. Elizabeth Bush. He d. 14 Feb. 1777, of small-pox, caught from his son Amos, who had returned from the army, during the revolution. He was buried by the side of John Miles who had also died from same disease caught from Amos Hurlbut. The place of their interment was the North Burying-ground in Chatham (now called Portland) at the foot of Meeting-house Hill, on the west side of the yard, near N. W. corner. There is a stone at Miles' grave, but none at that of Mr. Hurlbut, whose remains were laid at north side of those of Miles.

86 David Hurlbut[4] Jr.,(David,[3] John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Upper Houses (now Cromwell, Ct.), 1 Nov. 1716, m. (1) Ruth Belden (b. Rocky Hill, Ct., 23 Sept. 1717), dau. of Gideon and Elizabeth (Seymour) Belden, of Rocky Hill, Soc., Wethersfield. She was admitted to Middle Haddam ch'h 7 Dec. 1746 ; he joined the ch'h in full communion 30 Jan. 1763. The date of her death is not learned. He m. (2) 30 March 1791, wid. Susannah Fuller of Easthampton Soc., Chatham ; she joined the ch'h 2 July 1796. Mr. H. was a farmer and first settled in Portland parish, town of Chatham, Ct., May 28, 1737, his father gave him 100 acres in the Long Lots, near the parish of Middle Haddam, and in June following, several other pieces of land ; in same year he rem. to that part of Chatham, where he continued to reside nineteen years. In 1756 he sold the greater part of his land to his brother Stephen and others, and rem. to the town of Haddam ; but a few years later he returned to Middle Haddam. In 1770, then living in Middle Haddam, but " late of Haddam," he sold half an acre of land with house thereon, in Middlefield Soc., in Middletown to Lewis Murlsor for £28. Mr. Hurlbut d. in Haddam, Ct., Oct. 1807 ; his will was dated 17 March 1806, and was proven 26 Oct. 1807 He had ordered that his debts should be paid, and gave to his w. Susannah whatever she brought with her, together with one-third interest in real and personal estate; the balance of his property to be equally divided among his children, including one share to the heir of his deceased son David. His son Seymour was named executor in the will. Inventory presented 30 Nov. 1807. If not a humorous incident, it yet must be classed as a stubbornly unyielding fact, the like of which in the history of families, occurs perhaps not unfrequently, that the estate of David Hurlbut, Jr., proved insolvent, paying only 66 cents on the dollar.

87 Wm. Hurlbut[4] (David[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Upper Houses, now town of Cromwell, Ct., 28 Nov. 1718. M. in Chatham, Ct., 1 May 1740, Elizabeth Rogers of Portland Soc. He was by trade a wheelwright, and first settled in Portland Soc., Chatham. His father deeded him, 1743, one-third of his Long Lots, also in 1745, 1746 and 1759, other grants in the Soc. of Middle Haddam, and the town in 1749 gave him $\frac{3}{4}$ of an acre in same Society. In 1740 or '41 he bought a place about 2 miles below Middle Haddam, at which he manufactured spinning-wheels for both flax and wool. William and his wife were admitted to membership of the 1st ch'h of Middle Haddam Soc., 10 May 1741, and were afterward members of the Episcopal church of Middle Haddam, he being one of its founders. It has been reported that Mr. H. rem. to Ashfield, Mass., and lived with his son Reuben, which is quite probable, as Reuben did live in Ashfield a short time. Yet William was a very old man if he removed to Ashfield at the time Reuben his son did, which was but a little while before the war of 1812. Yet the father may have gone there some years before. Of dates of births and baptisms of the ch. I am advised of some differences in the town and church records. Time and place of the parents decease not learned.

90 Stephen Hurlbut[4] (David[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Upper Houses, Middletown, Ct., about 1725 but the date does not appear. He m. Susannah ———. They were admitted to full communion in the Middle Haddam ch'h 2 June 1745. His father then at Groton, Ct., deeded to him in Oct. 1745, "a piece of land in Middle Haddam, with a barn and shop thereon;" and in 1756 he bought 35 acres with a house and other buildings in that parish, and before as well as after 1762, bought other parcels of land. He appears from the records to have been inclined to speculate in new lands; it is said that during some 5 years was engaged in whaling voyages. During the war of the Revolution, he was a royalist, and though owning a good farm, he sold his property, and with one of his sons, if not both, removed to Nova Scotia, where he purchased land. After the war however, he returned to Middle Haddam ; but he had lost much of his property by depreciation and forced sales. About the year 1793, he rem. with his family to Wintonbury about 4 miles from Hartford, in what was since town of Bloomfield, where according to one account he died aged over a hundred years. Yet from another source I am told that he died aged 95 years, at the home of his grandson Russell on Christian Hill in Great Barrington, Mass.

92 Gideon Hurlbut[4] (David[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Upper Houses, Middletown Ct., 9 June 1729. He was both a wheelwright and a blacksmith, but making spinning-wheels was his principal business. He first settled in Haddam Neck, town of Haddam, Ct., but afterward rem. to "Waughan Reservation" in Chatham, Ct., now town of Portland, where he purchased a farm and house in 1755 of John Clark, and also other lands of James Patton in 1761. He was the executor named in his father's will, who gave him his blacksmith's shop and tools, with lands and all his movable estate. He m. 14 Feb. 1751, Deborah Brainerd (b. 17 Sept. 1732), dau. of Abijah and Esther (Smith) Brainerd, of Haddam He d. 1 July 1823, in the house occupied in 1861 by his grandson Chester S. Hurlbut. 101 Gideon Hurlbut[4] (Nathan,[3] Samuel[2], Thomas[1],) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 9 Feb. 1700, bap. 18 same mo. m. 30 Dec. 1725 (David Goodrich, J. P. officiating) Mary (b. Mar. 1709) dau. of Thomas Deming of Wethersfield. He lived some years in Newington, Soc. Weth., but rem. to Goshen, Ct. at time of its settlement about 1738. The first purchase of lands in Goshen made by Gideon Hurlbut, was from John Crane of Wethersfield, of ½ the proprietors, right, which belonged originally to Christopher Grimes. This was done at Wethersfield 7 Feb. 1738. The land upon which he settled in Goshen, was the North ½ of a second division Lot, laid out in the names of said Hurlbut and Grimes, containing in all 61 acres. The lot was divided between them by deed dated 24 Sept. 1739 "half that lot in Goshen, which we now live upon." He afterward owned the whole right of Mr. Grimes and was a landholder to the extent of one right. He is understood to have been a man of substantial character, and was frequently called to hold office in the town. He was early a mem. of the ch'h in Goshen. His home was on the esat side of West street, about 80 rods south of where the present road leaves said West street for Town Hill. He was generally called "Lieutenant," and was still living when Mr. Hooker was settled there in Sept. 1791. Mrs. H. died in Goshen, 17 June 1798.

112 Jonathan Hurlbut Jr.[4] (Jonathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Kensington, Soc. Farmington, Ct., 4 April 1702. He m. (1) 6 July 1727, Sabrah Orton (bap. 7 Feb. 1699) dau. of Thomas Orton of Farmington. Possibly the name written "Sabrah," was meant for Sarah. She was admitted to full communion in Southington ch'h 3 May 1730 ; he was admitted 26 June 1737. He m. (2) ~~1st~~ 2d Merrill or Merritt. The date of this 2d m. is not learned, nor dates of birth or death of either wife. The father of Mr. H. gave him in his will (1730) such part of his home lot as would amount to £5. He settled in Kensington, Soc.

As evidence of the eccentricity of tradition often times, I will state that a grandson of this Jonathan told me, that it was said and generally believed in the family, that he came from England, and was by trade a wheelwright, but practiced medicine after his arrival in this country; that he first settled in Farmington, thence to Goshen, and lastly to Cornwall Hollow where he died. There was a similar tradition relating to his father's medical proclivities; but confirmation is absent in either case. The notes of Mr. Edwin Stearns gives the death of Jonathan Jr., as appearing at Kensington, in October 1761, and that Noadiah Hart was appointed administrator of his estate, but which estate as by the inventory was only £35. If Mr. Stearns' items referred to no other Jonathan than this one, then there is an end to the Cornwall Hollow story; the reports are certainly contradictory.

The name in use by the family, I am advised has been variedly written Hurlbert as well as Hurlburt.

116 Isaac Hurlbut[1] (Jonathan[3], Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Kensington parish, Farmington, Ct., 1715. He was a farmer, and received a portion of his fathers's homestead in the distribution of his estate. He was a captain of the militia, and a prominent mem. of the ch'h, and was chorister in 1756. In Jan. 1766, he was one of the committee for fixing the site of a new church in Kensington, Soc. The name of his wife is not ascertained, nor are the names of any children discovered; prob. there were none. His wife d. 2 March 1767; he d. 16 Dec. 1794.

118 James Hurlbut[4] (Jonathan,[3] Samuel[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Kensington, Soc., Farmington, Ct., 1717. It has been told that "his father was a Frenchman," in low circumstances, but of undoubted courage. I will allow the "courage," and "circumstances," but must of necessity reject the "Frenchman." Precisely what his advantages for early instruction were, is not at this day known, but it is believed that he secured some training from the clergyman of the neighboring Soc. prob. from Rev. Wm. Russell, of Middletown, or possibly from Rev. Joseph Smith, of Upper Houses and he doubtless had access to the library of and prob. instruction from the elder Dr. Osborn, of Middletown. Though Dr. Hurlbut was a man of varied acquirements, it was as a physician he became eminent; indeed he has been called one of the fathers of medicine in Connecticut. At one time he was a leading man in the town, (Farmington, Ct.,) and a mem. of the ch'h in close communion; but he became hopelessly intemperate, and his name was erased in the list of membership. Dr. Hurlbuts fame was wide spread in his day, and his personal acquaintance extensive. He was a tall and well proportioned man, and his eyes were dark and piercing.

In a letter from Mrs. Emma Willard of Troy, N. Y., to the compiler of this volume, bearing date in July 1862, she says; "Dr. James Hurlbut of Berlin Ct., was dead before I can remember, but he was my mother's physician, duriug the early part of her life. Her name was Lydia Hinsdale, and her youngest brother married his daughter, whose name was Philomela. * * * * * Dr. Hurlbut must have been a remarkable man, since he impressed himself so vividly upon the generation who came after him ; anecdotes and saying of his, I used frequently to hear from my mother and others."

In early life Dr. Hurlbut possessed considerable property, but careless in his precuniary affairs, rarely keeping any account of his services, embarrassments ensued, and in age his dress was rags. He m. (1) Abigail Hart, sister of Gen. Selah Hart of Kensington, Soc. It is believed that his w. Abigail d. in Nov. 1789. He m. (2) late in life it is understoed Mrs. Ann (Hollister) Booth of Glastenburg, Ct , wid. of Robert Booth. This last marriage as might be expected, did not prove a very happy alliance ; indeed not many days had gone by, before high words had passed between them ; without doubt the union was of short duration. He lived in Kensington in a gambrelroofed house on Brandy street, still standing a few years since about 1½ miles west of Berlin old church. In the latter part of his life, he resided a few years with his son Raphael, in Wallingford, Ct., but returned to Berlin ; he lived also at one time with his kinsman Samuel Hurlbut. After the death of his wife in 1789, he rem. to Wethersfield where he had formerly practiced much, and where he received much public sympathy and aid in his fallen estate. He d. at the house of one of his friends in Wethersfield, of protracted illness, generally said to be cancer of the leg, 11 April 1794, aged 77. He was buried in the grave yard of Wethersfield, near the north wall of the church, but there has been no monument to mark the spot where he was laid.

Dr. Gridley of Berlin, Ct., many years since wrote a somewhat extended sketch of Dr. H., an abridgment of which

with whom he lived till he was 25 years old. He m. 11 Dec. 1777, Esther Geer (b. in Middletown, Ct., Oct. 1756 or 7), dau. of Samuel and Esther Geer of Easthampton Soc. Chatham, Ct. He settled first in Chatham, and received land from his parents in 1782. He was a revolutionary soldier, and I am told that he received a pension. He lived some years in Hebron, Ct., and afterward in Hartford, Whethersfield, and Suffield, Ct, Blandford, Mill River, and Sheffield, Mass., and Salisbury, Ct., from which last named place he removed to Lee, Mass. He d. in Lee, Mass. 15 Nov. 1835, Mrs. H., had d. in same town 12 Mar. 1825. (Mr. H. after his discharge from the army, overtook a fellow soldier who was sick, and to whom he gave his blanket. 235 Samuel Hurlbut,[5] (David, Jr.[4], David[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Chatham, Ct., 21 Apr. o. s. 1748, bap. in Middle Haddam Soc., 24 Apr. 1748. He m. (before he was 19) 1766, Jerusha Higgins, dau. of Capt. Cornelius and Sarah (Hawes) Higgins, of Haddam, Ct. Jerusha was of the 5th generation in direct descent from Richard Higgins, the emigrant settler of Eastham, Mass. Mr. Hurlbut and his wife first res. in Middle Haddam, and about 1780, they removed to Northampton Township, Westhampton Soc., Mrs. H. received a letter from the ch'h. in Middle Haddam to that of Westhampton. Mr. H., was a farmer and also a carpenter. During the Revolution, he was a soldier, having enlisted twice. His first enlistment July 9 1775, serving 5 mo's and 10 d'ys in 9th Comp. of 8th Reg. of Conn. troops. In the following year, 1776, he was in the Comp. of which Cornelius Higgins, his father-in-law was captain, and served near New York; was in the battle of White Plains, etc. Mr. H. rem. with his family in the winter of 179$\frac{9}{1}$ to the State of Vermont, and first remained a short time in Hubbardton, but is understood to have settled on what has since been known "as the old John White farm" in the now town of Sudbury, Vt., but afterward seems to have lived in towns of Benson, Castleton, and Bridport. He wrote his name variedly perhaps, as by a conveyance in 1807, his signature appears "Samuel Hulbud." He is understood to have been a man of good judgment, industrious, diffident and retiring, but esteemed an honest man, and was always poor.

The incubus of poverty in his case, must hardly be considered surprising. From the rocks and hills of Westhampton, pushing in dead-winter through the snow-drifts into the Vermont wilderness, with a full dozen of children, and several more to arrive in due time, with sickness incident to the region (five of the ch. shaking at one time with the ague) with other drawbacks and hinderances it is not surprising that riches were loth to be wooed to sit by their fireside. The gratitude of the mother of this household, struggling with poverty as they were, was ever constant and her written words now lying before me exclaim, "How wonderful that God has been so merciful to me." Mr. H., died in Bridport, Vt., 12 Aug. 1816, in the hope of immortality, through the promises of the Saviour. Efforts were being made for his widow, to procure a pension to which she was entitled on account of her husbands services in the Revolution but she died before that was brought about. Mrs. H., d. at the house of her son Samuel, Jr., in Benson, Vt., 5 Apr., 1837, and her remains rest in the village burying ground. 262 Stephen Hurlbut[5] (John,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Groton, Ct., the date however has not been learned. It is probable that Mr. Hurlbut first settled in his native town and where he resided some years, but he afterwards became a settler at Southampton, Mass., not however until the birth of a portion of his children. He was, as I learn from a memorandum in manuscript by his brother Dea. John Hurlbut Jr., a land surveyor, and was at the Connecticut settlements on the Susquehannah, in 1772, and the spring of 1773, and perhaps part of the succeeding year in that capacity. It is quite probable also, that he was there in the year 1770, and was the individual referred to in Miner's Wyoming (page 120) erroniously called "Christopher Hurlbut," employed by the Susquehannah company to make surveys. Christopher Hurlbut, son of Deacon John and nephew of Stephen, afterward become a settler and surveyor at Wyoming, and hence without doubt the error. Stephen Hurlbut m. (1) Mary Morgan ; m. (2) a Mrs. Allen a widow. One of the wives of Mr H. we have heard it said was a French lady. He m. (3)

wid. Rebecca Sheldon. I acknowledge a failure to learn further names, dates, etc, regarding these ladies. 264 John Hurlbut Jr.,[5] (John,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Groton, Ct., 12 March 1730, m. Abigail Avery (b. o. s. 1 April, 1735), whose father lived in Preston, Ct.

Mr. H. was a farmer and lived many years in Groton, or probably always, until his removal from the state. His farm was between two and three miles from Gales Ferry, and one half a mile from Lantern Hill. He was a man of considerable prominence in his neighborhood, having the confidence of his fellow townsmen, active, patriotic, useful. With a tolerable English education for the time, and a fair penman, he was as I infer from the examination of some of his papers, occasionally chosen and officiated as selectman, and also as schoolmaster, besides being the deacon of the church. In the movements which immediately preceded the Revolution, he was associated with Col. Ledyard, and several others in the town, as a committee of correspondence. There is preserved of his papers, a full record or journal of his occupation from day to day in the year 1775, including the condition of the weather also, for every day of that year, with the exception of a few in the month of December. [A copy of that journal, made by my son, I sent to the Historical Society of New London, Ct.] Among the entries of that journal, comprising the routine of daily employment of a farmer of that time and locality, are the following; "winowing wheat," "butchering pork," "shoemaking," "carting wood," "drawing mill-logs," "shelling corn," "ploughing in oats," "sowing flax-seed," "mending oven," "shearing sheep," "planting," "mowing," "digging petatoes," "making cider," &c. &c. I copy here also the following from same; "With ye Authority & Select men &c choosing Taverners," "Annaversary fast," "21st about 4 o'clock in ye morning Alarmed with Tydings from Boston," (this was the news of the battle of Lexington in April;) upon which I set off to meet ye com^{n} at ye ferry with ye Col; "advised to ye Comp^{y} together, bro't orders to ye Captain," "22d at Capt. Belton's where ye Town were mainly together," "to Robert Stoddards, he refused to take paper bills in payment for Note;" "20th" (July) "Continental Fast;" "At Poquetannuck securing Ponderson's store from King's ships"; "7th" (Aug.) "Ten sail of ships and transports appeared at ye west end of Fisher's Island, caused a general alarm."

Dea. Hurlbut visited the Susquehannah valley as early as May 1773, having bought a right in the Conn., "Susquehannah Company," and arrived home in June of that year; in the autumn of '75 and '77, he was also in Penn. Selling his farm in Groton in the summer of 1777, he in the spring of 1778, with wife and children (excepting Christopher and John who left in February preceeding, for the same destination,) with two wagons, horses, cattle, sheep, and swine, left his late home in New England, for the Ct., colony on the Susquehannah. After crossing the Delaware, Mr. H. was taken with the prevailing "camp-distemper," and with Mrs. H, he stopped to regain his health, the others meanwhile moving on. On the way their daughter Abigail, aged 6 years, was taken with the common sickness, and at Lackawaxen or rather at what was Paupacke the little girl died. The delay caused by these misfortunes, very likely, was the occasion of their being spared the greater calamity of the massacre early in July of that year at Wyoming, whither they were bound. They removed to a farm in Shawaugunk, N. Y., where they tarried a while, and in November, 1779, arrived at the land of Mr. H. in Hanover on the Susquehannah. It is proper to say, that they were driven away for a while as it is undersood, and their house burned, whether by the Indians, or else by barbarous whites, who claimed to act for the State authorities of Pa., which for some years, were in collision with the Ct., settlers, regarding ownership and jurisdiction. Dea. H. was a member of the Ct. Assembly from Wyoming in 1779, '80, and '81, and in the absence of a clergyman in the settlement, he frequently officiated by preaching a sermon, etc. Of Mrs. H. she is said to have been "of great excellence of character; a meek and devoted Christian." There is evidence too that her patiotism was no less than that of her husband, for it is told that she first proposed to send their two oldest sons (one aged 19 and the other

16) to aid in their country's necessities. She survived her husband many years ; her grandson James Hurlbut informed me that he saw her at her son's house near Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1805, where she was then living, cheerful, and ready to depart, which she did soon after, at the home of her son Naphtali in Pittston, Pa., 29 Nov. 1805. 276 George Hurlbut[5] (Joseph,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in New London, Ct., in or near 1756. On the news of the battle of Lexington in April 1775, he hastened with others of his townsmen to join the army near Boston. With the company of Captain Coit he took part in the battle of Bunker Hill, and afterwards enlisted in the Light Horse Troop, to serve during the war. At one time he was one of the Washington "Life Guards," and in 1778, was promoted to a captaincy in Col. Sheldon's Reg. of Dragoons. [I have the information from some one not now remembered, that Capt. H. received one of the few medals presented for distinguished services in the army during the Revolution.] His widowed sister Mrs. Welch, petitioned Congress to be allowed half-pay, and General Washington gave a letter, dated Dec. 8, 1783, detailing important facts regarding Capt. Hurlbut's services, eulogizing his bravery. His death was occasioned by a wound by a grape-shot from a Br. vessel which had chased some Am. privateers up the Hudson. One of the Am. vessels had caught fire from the attack, and Capt. H. volunteered to swim to the craft, which he did, and extinguished the flames under a severe fire from the enemy, in returning however he was hit by a shot. He recovered temporarily, but a fall from a horse broke the wound anew, and he d. May 8, 1783. I think he was unmarried. An appropriation by Congress in 1834, gave the legal representatives of Captain Hurlbut, five years full pay. Capt. H. was buried in New London where the old red sand stone monument marks the grave of the patriot.

278 Samuel Hurlbut[5] (Joseph,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in New London, Ct., 17 July 1765. He m. 2 June 1796, Matilda Denison dau. of Elisha and Elizabeth crossed the Atlantic and served in Cromwell's army; he afterward returned to America, where he was distinguished in the early Indian wars of New England.) Mr. H. was a midshipman in the Navy, but left the service and became a merchant (ship chandler, ship-owner, &c.), in New London. He was engaged in trade with the West Indies; he was called "Captain," and held many positions of trust and importance in his native city.

282 Joseph Hurlbut, Jr.[5] (Joseph,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in New London, Ct., 2 March, 1773, and was a twin with his sister Mary. By an earlier m. of his father, he had a brother of the same name, but the date of whose birth or death has I am inclined to believe, been given erroneously (see ½ bro. Joseph No. 273). By the sinking of the Brig Nabby, off Montauk Point, he was drowned 25 July 1795. The vessel was bound for the West Indies and he was principal owner. The others on board barely escaped; they heard his voice in distress, but were unable to render him assistance. He was as I understand unm.

291 Elias Hurlbut[5] (Peter,[4] Nathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 16 July, 1728; bap. 28 July, 1728 His father sold him and his brother Jeremiah, 8 March 1770, a farm in East Hartford, Ct., "next to Glastenbury line," with 2 mansion houses and barns thereon, where it is believed Elias settled and lived. Whether he had family or not I have no positive assurance; yet the Thomas Hurlbut, who owned the Covenant in East Hartford, 29 Nov. 1778, and had dau. Mabe bap. there. 17 Jan. 1779, may have been the son of Elias.

296 Jeremiah Hurlbut[5] (Peter,[4] Nathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 24 March 1743, bap. 27 April 1743. In 1770, he bought land and buildings of his father in E. Hartford, near Glastonbury line, and is believed to have settled there. 318. Shadrack Hurlbut[5] (Josiah,[4] Jonathan,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Farmington, Ct., 10 May 1758. He m. in Redding, Ct., Huldah Whitlock. He remained at home with his father until the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, and is said to have been unwilling to study medicine with his father, who was a physician, but chose to acquire the art of boot and shoemaking. Yet we have the evidence of his later life, that he in some manner gained a knowledge of medicine, and became a skillful physician. He is termed a doctor in the History of Pittsfield, Mass., when in Nov 1789, he is named as a dissenter from Congregationalism, and a Shaker. At the beginning of the Revolution, he enlisted into the company of Capt. Edward Ells as a fifer for 6 months, at the expiration of which time he returned to his father's, and remained there until the following April, when he was drafted into the army, and was a portion of the time at Danbury and Redding, Ct. He was then of a delicate constitution, and playing the fife caused bleeding at the lungs, and he was compelled to get discharged from the service. He lived in Redding about three years, and from there removed to Richmond, Mass., where his brother Matthias lived. When the Society of Shakers was established in the adjoining town of Hancock, Mr. H. accompanied by his family, became one of the earliest members. He is said to have been a very intelligent, polite and worthy man, and his society was sought by many distinguished persons, who considered themselves honored by his acquaintance.

Elder Reuben Hawkins being addressed by the compiler of

this volume, answered, dated West Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 4, 1862, as follows: "Concerning Shadrack, I can speak without reserve, for I lived in the same family with him for more than thirty years ; he was esteemed by all our Society, and by all his acquaintance, out of the Society, as a very remarkable man. He was bound to excel in everything he undertook ; his musical talents were of the highest order ; as a physician there was no one that stood higher in public estimation ; as a shoemaker, there was no one in this section of the country who could bear any comparison ; as a gardener, he had not an equal, everything was kept in the most perfect order; neatness stamped everything he turned his hand to. He was one of the first that introduced the raising of garden-seeds in the Society, which is now our most important branch of trade. I could say much more in commendation."

Dr. H. at one time wrote his name Hurlbert as appears by his signature which I have. He d. 12 Feb. 1850, in his 92d year. His wife had d. 2 May 1813, aged 55.

(1) in Kensington Soc., 17 Nov. 1766, Sarah Hubbard, dau. of George Hubbard of Kensington. M. (2) Abigail (or Olive as one asserts) wid. of Mr. Nott of Southington. Her maiden name was Riley. Mr. H. was a farmer and lived at one time in Wallingford, Ct., and also in Salisbury, Ct, but is understood to have removed in 1812 to Springfield Portage Co., O. He was a Revolutionary soldier and is said to have been with the army seven years, mostly in the capacity of teamster, or had charge of transportation trains ; he was called " Captain." His first wife is believed to have d. in Wallingford, Ct., when her son Agathus was about 2 months old, her husband being away with the army. He d. in Springfield, O., 16 June in or near the year 1822. His wid. m. (3) in Ohio, John Hamilton. She d. in Springfield, Portage Co., O.

Mr. H. was drowned by the sinking of a flat-boat on one of the western rivers, but I have no further information regarding him or his family.

332 Hosea Hurlbut[5], (Samuel 3d,[4] Samuel Jr.,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]), was b. in Kensington Soc. Berlin, Ct., 1756. He m. in Fairfield, Ct., Jan 1780, Rachel Hubbell of Greenfield, Ct., Rev. Andrew Elliot officiating. He studied medicine with his kinsman and uncle by marriage Dr. James Hurlbut, and received a diploma from the Conn. Medical Soc., James Potter, Pres., dated Oct. 20, 1782. He also studied medicine with the first Oliver Wolcott, Gov. of Conn., who was a physician at Litchfield. Here he resided in the Governor's family, and contracted a close intimacy with Oliver Wolcott Jr., (afterward Sec. of the Treasury under Pres Washington) and also a strong friendship with Judge Tappan Reeve, and his young brother-in-law Aaron Burr. His father 21 June 1784, deeded him land in Worthington Soc. Berlin, Ct. He first settled in practice of his profession at Sheffield, Mass., but removed to Upper Houses, Middletown, Ct., his wife and himself were recommended by the church in Sheffield, 27 April 1783, to the church in Upper Houses. An aged gentleman, a relative of the doctor, says he lived a while in Guilford, Ct., but he removed snbsequently to Greenfield Hill, Ct., where he res. many years, his medical practice was large, not only at home, but beyond the limits of the country in which he lived. Dr. H. is said to have had "a noble face, and commanding presence," and possessed more than ordinary colloquial powers, with a keen and brilliant wit. With a fine literary taste, he had the English poets at his command; Milton, Young and Thompson, he knew by heart. He indulged in the muses himself sometimes, and wrote a poem called "Progres of Quackery," suggested by the presence of an empyric who had started up in his neighborhood. The production it is said, had the effect to drive the unfortunate subject of it from the town.

Dr. H. wrote the family name "Hulbert," and insisted (for reasons which have not come down to us,) that this was the correct mode.

Mrs. H. d. 15 Jan. 1819, in the 60th year of her age; he d. in Greenfield Hill, Ct., 5 April, 1825, of ossification of the heart; his daughters Fanny and Nancy being with him in his last moments.

347. Adam Hurlbut[5], (Moses,[4] Joseph Jr.,[3] Joseph,[2] Thomas[1]) bap. in Woodbury, Ct., 24 Oct. 1736. From some I have been told that he m. a Miss Benedict of Waterbury, Ct., yet a grandson of Adam has answered me that his wife was a Miss Rebecca Booth, (she was perhaps dau. of David) I am inclined to believe that there were two wives, and that there was one son by the 1st marriage. Mr. H. was still in Woodbury, in 1781, (prob. went to Vt, in 1782). It has been told that his wife inherited from her father some 600 acres of land, but where located was not told. He was 92 years old when he died (I do not flatter myself that I have altogether succeeded in presenting a true record of this family, yet some facts, given and names of the children told to me it is probable, are mostly correct, but dates are wanting, and it is not likely that their true order is here given. It is believed and told by some of the grandchildren of Adam, that he was an Englishman and came over with Gen. Wolfe, and was at the capture of Quebec. So it is often, the memory clings to absurd inventions, frequently called tradition, but neglecting facts much to be desired, such as dates, localities, alliances, death, &c., &c.

But Adam Hurlbut was a "captain" so called in Woodbury Ct., and he was certainly a Rev. soldier from that town

361 William Hurlbut[5] (Caleb[4], Joseph Jr.[3], Joseph[2], Thomas[1]) was born in Litchfield Co., Ct., about the year 1739. He removed to Vermont so told, in the vicinity of Whitehall. N. Y., but when is not learned, nor anything further regarding himself, or family if he had any.

362. Benoni Hurlbut[5], (Caleb[4], Joseph, Jr.[3], Joseph[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Litchfield Co., Ct., about the year 1741, though Mr. Hildrith in his Pioneer History made it 10 years earlier. That history tells that Benoni removed from Pennsylvania to Ohio, in the fall of 1788, having been raised on the frontier, and from boyhood was accustomed to a back-woodsmans life. Rev. Lewis Hurlbut, a nephew of Benoni, told me that his uncle first moved from Conn. to near Whitehall

N. Y., where his brothers William and Caleb went, but he afterward removed far west to the Ohio River and lived several years on what is now called Blenerhassett's Island. In 1789, he served as a hunter to a party of surveyors. In 1791, he with his family, (who were entirely clothed in dressed deer-skins,) was living in the stockade fort called Farmer's Castle at Belprie, O. He was engaged in hunting for the garrison then, when near the mouth of the Little Hockhocking, he was fired upon by Indians in ambush, and killed, 28 September 1791. Joshua Flechart, a companion of Hurlbut on the excursion, being not far distant, heard the report of the gun, knowing it was not Hurlbut's and though unable to render assistance, painfully listened to Hurlbut's dog in fierce contest with the Indians, trying to defend his master. But a blow from a tomahawk soon stilled the dog, and Flechart after watching some time without being able to get a prudent shot at the Indians, yet near enough to hear the groans of the dying man, returned in a canoe (the way they came) to the garrison. On the following morning a detachment from the Fort accompanied by Flechart, found the remains of Hurlbut, scalped and lying where he fell, with the body of his faithful dog by his side. The remains of Mr. Hurlbut were brought to the Fort and buried. Dr. Hildreth states he was esteemed "an honest, worthy man." He left a wife and four children; the family which he left is understood to have settled in Amestown, Athens Co., O.

[It is proper to add that Rev. Lewis Hurlbut, a nephew of Benoni, in a letter to me, said he had understood that his uncle was killed near the mouth of Wolf creek, a tributary of the Muskingum.] Of the children of Benoni, I have learned the name of but one.

367. Nathan Hurlbut Jr.[5], (Nathan[4], John,[3] Joseph[2], Thomas[1]), was b. in Woodbury, Ct., 6 Feb. 1733, bap. 23 Sept. 1733. He m. but the name of his wife is not known. We have heard that he removed to Alford, Mass. There is some probability that he, together with his father, lived in Sharon, Ct., before going to Alford ; the names of Nathan, Sr. and Jr., appear on the records of Sharon, 1759 to 1762. It is said there were 3 children, but their names and other particulars are not gained.

368. John Hurlbut[5] (Nathan,[4] John,[3] Joseph[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Woodbury, Ct., or what is now Roxbury, 29 Jan. 1735, and bap. 2 Nov. of same year; one of his descendants writes me that he is confident that the year of his birth was 1732, which is no doubt erroneous. The name of John Hurlbut, possibly this gentleman appears in the list of soldiers, as one of Capt. Wait Hinman's comp., from Woodbury, which marched for the relief of Fort Wm. Henry in 1757. He m. Mercy (by some of the family called Marcia) Hamlin. It is reported that he lived awhile in Sharon, Ct, and also in Egremont, Mass., before going to Alford. But he was early in Alford, Mass., as a permanent settler. He grad. at Nassau Hall, Princeton, N. J., 1762; became a practicing physician; was a magistrate; was first clerk of the town of Alford 1773, and a member of the Convention in Mass., which ratified the Federal Constitution in 1788. Dr. H. was a prominent man in his neighborhood, and unquestionably a very decided man in his opinions, and he may have been the gentleman spoken of by Judge Church in his Centennial Address at Litchfield, when he said: "A spark from that flame in Berkshire County, had flown over into Sharon. One Dr. Hurlbut an emissary of Shay's, visited that Town in the spring of 1787, to enlist men in his cause. He made some impression." Dr. H. in 1792 and previously, wrote the family name "Hurlbut;" in 1793 he changed the mode to "Hulbert," which manner it appears he settled on, and that form of orthograpy is generally followed by his descendants. Hinman. Mr. H. was a captain in the army of the Rev., from Woodbury, and is said to have been present at the capture of Ticonderoga, &c. After the war he removed to Vermont, and settled in town of Charlotte. He, or one of same name is spoken of in Miss Hemenway's valuable Gazetteer, as one of the grantees of New Haven, Vt. It is told that he was a worthy Christian gentleman, and at his funeral, his pastor the Rev. Mr. Baldwin, said "he was a man without an enemy." The family name he wrote "Hurlburt." He d. in Charlotte, Vt., 23 March 1818. His wid. d. in same town 22 April 1826.

382. Cornelius Hurlbut[5] (David[4], Cornelius[3], Joseph[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in what is now Roxbury, Ct., 18 Nov., 1752. He commenced his business life without any capital excepting health, strong arms, good principles, and determined energy. His occupation was farming, and his pay per annum was the amount of forty dollars, which in those days was considered a good price for the best man. Soon after the Revolution (in 1786), he accompanied Nathan Leavenworth, a man with some pecuniary means to Vermont, his friends in Connecticut bidding him adieu, who had little doubt that he would be killed by Indians or else devoured by wild beasts. At Hinesburgh, Vt., he took up a hundred acres of land, adjoining that of his friend Leavenworth, and paying Mr. L., two days work in seven for his board, he began the labor of making a farm out of his wood-lot, and a home there in the forest. Their mill of that day, was a cut from a birch log, placed upright, with the upper end hollowed out. In this they ground bread-stuffs, and it was years afterward that a water-mill was built at Vergennes, some 15 miles distant, which was henceforth patronized, to the neglect of the old wooden morter. It is however worthy of note, that their first journey to the Vergennes Mill, and back (3 men and 2 horses) required the space of a week of time to accomplish. I have not room here to detail the trials of the pioneers of those days in preserving their grain, etc., before and after harvest, from the greedy marauders of the woods, such as bears, coons, etc., etc., for Vermont, sometimes called the "Catamount State," abounded in wild animals which ever took delight in playing their pranks upon the settlers invading their domain

[Philander Hurlbut a son of Hezekiah (son of David No. 143) rem. to Pa., with his family including son Edwin, of whom a sketch appears below.]

Elwin Hurlbut son of Philander, at the age of seven years removed with his parents to Bradford Co. Pa., where he remained about eight years, availing himself of the best educational advantages in that locality, the common schools. Going on foot to Newark, N. J., he passed a year there with an uncle, and then went westward as far as Michigan. After stopping a short time in Eaton county, of that state, he turned eastward, and at Lodi, N. Y., commenced the study of law In 1842, he removed to Towanda, Pa., continuing his studies and was admitted to the bar in 1847. Removing in that year to the State of Michigan, he settled in the practice of his profession in Mason, Ingham, Co., where he was the District Attorney, Postmaster, as well as Judge Advocate of the State Militia, with rank of Colonel.

In April 1850, Col. H., re-pitched his tent, to the westward of Lake Michigan, at Oconomowoc, where he still resides in the successful practice of his profession. The estimation in which the ability and industry of Col. H., is held, appears in the honored positions which he has filled. He was elected District Attorney in 1856; was appointed Col. on Gov. Randall's staff in 1861; went to Washington with the 4th, Reg. Wis. Inf., and had a position in the State Commissary Dept. and the inspection of troops; in 1862, he was made Dep. U. S. Marshal with Provost Marshal powers, and was offered a colonelcy of a Wisconsin Reg., but declined. He was a mem. of the General Assembly of Wisconsin in session of 1869. In 1870, at the request of Gov. Fairchild he was his representative in the International Congress on Penitentiary reformatory discipline. He is known as a humanitarian, and in 1872, was made a delagate to the International Congress which met in London. In the city of his home, he has officiated in various offices of usefulness, particularly in educational matters affecting the public schools.

He is editor and proprietor of the Wisconsin Free Press, an ably conducted journal published at Oconomowoc. He is a prominent advocate of temperance reform; an honored member of the Masonic Fraternity, and a Baptist in religious sentiments.

A notice of Col. Hurlbut appeared in the publication known as the Biographical Dictionary of self-made men of the Northwest of which the above is an abridged extract. Col. H. m. in Oct. 1840, Miss Chandler, of Seneca county, N. Y. She d. April 6, 1864, leaving three daughters.

(2) 18 Sept. 1771, Martha Warner (b. 3 Nov. 1753,) dau. of Thomas and Abigail (Prentice) Warner. The names of Gideon and Gideon Jr., appears in the list of Revolutionary soldiers from Woodbury. It is understood that Mr. H. resided in that part of Woodbury now known as Roxbury, until the marriage of his dau. Abigail, soon after which Mr. and Mrs. H. went to live with her in Oxford, Ct. The date of his death it is believed is 12 Aug. 1828 ; his wid. Martha, d. in Oxford, 27 Jan. 1832.

Mr. H., though very young, was a Revolutionary soldier it is said, and his wid. received a pension for several years before her death, on account of his services. A descendant of that lady says she deserved a pension on her own account for the hardships borne by herself. The old lady frequently told how the Indians would often visit their home, and brandishing their tomahawks over her head, would oblige her to deal out the contents of her cupboard. The family I think lived some years in Vermont, but subsequently in Winsted, Ct. A fall upon the ice fracturing his skull it is said caused his death. He d. in Winsted, Ct., 1 May 1807, according to the Town record, but from another source it is given as the last day of April of that year. Mrs. H., the wid. removed from Winsted to West Hartford, where she lived with her son Amos ; she d. in West Hartford, 14 May 1854, aged 86.

John Hurlbut was a scientific navigator, if one may judge from a series of nautical problems entered by him in a blank book which he bought in London in the year 1800, and now lying before me. In Nov. 1796, he started, apparently as first mate, of the ship Neptune, Daniel Green master from New York, on a voyage around the globe. This cruise is said to have been the first in which the globe was circumnavigated by an American vessel. The Neptune went first to the Falkland Islands, for seal skins, touching at many islands of the south Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, including the Sandwich then inhabited by barbarians. The log-books kept by Capt. H. and ending with the stay of the ship at Whampoa, China, in Dec. 1798, are now before me, and they contain much curious and interesting reading. * * * * * * * * It must have required more than three years to complete the cruise. A memorandum shows that in 1803, Capt. Hurlbut was master of the schooner Weasel, plying between New York and the West Indies"] Capt. Hurlbut d. in New York in 1808 of small-pox. 550 Amos Geer Hurlbut[6] (Amos,[5] Ebenezer, Jr.,[4] Ebenezer,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Wethersfield, Ct., 7 Feb. 1799, m. 27 Jan. 1824, Cynthia Barrett, eldest dau. of Ansel Barrett, of Lee, Mass, a descendant of Wm. Barrett who arrived at Plymouth in the Fortune of 55 tons, Nov. 9, 1621. The mother of Cynthia Barrett, whose name was Hannah Dymoke, claimed to be of the lineage of the Dymoke family of England. The name Dimick or Dimmock is not an uncommon one in America; and "It may be," says Judgo Savage, "originally the same as that of Dymoke, the hereditary champion of England, who, at Coronations, owes the service of challenge to competitors for the Crown."

Mr. Hurlbut rem. to Lee in 1820, and where in connection with his brother Samuel A., he carried on the business of carriage building. He is said to have been a master of a vessel in his father's business, and resided a while in Middle Haddam. He removed however to the east end of Long Island, and in April 1807, advertised in Sagg-Harbor newspaper, for sale, a house shop and ¾ acres of land. I notice an Act of Congress, passed Jan. 1815, releasing Mr. Hurlbut from imprisonment at Hartford, from a judgment of the U. S. against him. But I place little credit to the statement concerning Mr. H. which is told in the autobiography of the notorious Stephen Burroughs, an eminent rascal of a former day. Mr. Hurlbut had in some manner, crossed the crooked pathway of Burroughs, and seems to have won his bitter spite. Burroughs says of Mr. H. that he was a saddler by trade, and yet calls him "Judge Hurlburt of Bridgehampton," and accuses him of misbehavior in certain pecuniary obligations, which I need not here recite. Mr. H. d. Middle Haddam, 25 Nov. 1815 ; his son Charles adm. upon the estate. I have understood there were other ch. than those named below, but names of such not learned.

In the, fall of 1802, he accompanied his brother Jesse to Western New York, where he bought 40 acres in Batavia village, and worked with his brother on the old Court House, Jail, etc., in the new village and in the fall of the succeeding year sold his lot and returned to Vermont. In the fore part of the year 1805, he m. in Benson, Vt. (at the house of her kinsman), Persis Smith, b. in Athol, Mass., 18 Apr. 1785, dau. of Capt. Asa and Lydia (Lynde) Smith. She was the granddaughter of Dea. Aaron Smith, one of the early settlers of Athol, who was of the third generation from the emigrant Lt. Samuel Smith, who was a first settler at Hadley, Mass. I will here name a small though slightly curious circumstance, in this family history, as shown by genealogical investigation. The wife of Mr. Hurlbut's ancestor (John Hurlbut, of Middletown) was Mary, dau. of John Deming the emigrant. Elizabeth, the sister of this John Deming, m. in England, Nathaniel Foote, also an emigrant to America, and Rebecca, their dau. m. Philip Smith, of Hadley. So, while John Deming on one side of this house, had the honor of being a distinguished progenitor of the paternal head of this particular household, five generations past, even so did his sister Mrs. Nathaniel Foote, with equal celebrity sustain a like position, as toward the maternal side, the same number of generations distant.

[If it was possible to follow backward in the father-land, the vast number of lines of descent of the great body of New England families originating in Old England, I believe it would be found that a common relationship would be proved far more general, and the sources of such affinity far less distant than generally supposed.]

Mr. Jonathan Hurlbut after his marriage lived in Benson, Vt., and Champlain, N. Y., but in 1813, he spent a brief period in the town of his nativity (Westhampton, Mass.,) but soon rem. to Cambridge, N. Y., and in the spring of 1814, became a res. of the village of Hoosick Falls, where he continued to live some 23 years From Hoosick, he rem. in 1837, to Oswego, N. Y., and in 1845, to Racine, Wis. Mr. Hurlbut for a short time was a soldier in the war of 1812. He was a skillful mechanic, and a good farmer, and worthy citizen.

680 Christopher Hurlbut[6] (John Jr.,[5] John,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Groton, Ct., 30 May 1757, m. 2 May 1782, Elizabeth Mann (b. in Delaware) dau. of Adam and Sarah (Johnson) Mann, who were formerly from Londonderry, Ireland, but then of Wilkesbarre, Pa. Mr. H. received a fair education, especially in mathematics, in which branch he was quite accomplished, and he became a skillful surveyor, which employment was a favorite one with him, and the frequent occupation of his life. In the early part of the Revolution, he enlisted in the army, for a year, and served until honorably discharged. He was with Washington in that dark period, the retreat of the American Army, through New Jersey late in 1776, a darkness relieved however, by the brilliant episode at Trenton. After his discharge from the army, Mr. H. visited the Wyoming country in 1777, and also in 1778, the year his father's family removed from Ct. [The Christopher Hurlbut, Surveyor, however, referred to in Miner's History of Wyoming, as being there in 1770, is no doubt a mistake, and should be Stephen Hurlbut an uncle of Christopher, who was in Wyoming in that capacity in 1773, and probably earlier.] Mr. H. it is believed remained with his father at Shawangunk, during a portion of the time while the family remained there, but in 1779, in advance of the family, he went to Hanover in Wyoming Valley. Here he employed his time for several years, mostly in surveying, sharing with the remaining settlers, the alarms and danger of the period, from Indian incursions, &c. In the spring of 1796, he visited and bought about 1000 acres of land on the Canisteo River, N. Y., and the year after, with his eldest son (a lad of 13), commenced a small clearing, and built a log house upon the premises. Returning to Hanover, he embarked with his family, in the autumn of that year in a boat, going up the Susquehannah, to the mouth of the Canisteo, and up that stream to their home in the wilderness. There was then no other house nearer than Hornellsville, a distance of 5 miles south, while in any other direction, the dense woods stretched much farther away, before coming to a white man's cabin. In this isolated abode they resided some years, with no neighbors but Indians, until the arrival of settlers. It was not until about the year 1805, that Mr. H. built for himself a large framed house, and in furnishing entertainment for increasing travel, proved tavern keeping in that region a possibilty. He also erected a store house and saw-mill, and built the first ark-boats on the Canisteo. To his embryo village he gave the name of Arkport. In person Mr. H. was tall and slender ; a great walker, few being able to keep up with him through the woods. He was a man of liberal views, and all times was an ardent advocate for public improvements. He held the office of judge in his county ; his public and private character was above reproach. For many years he was a professed Christian, and his days were cheered by the Christians hope. He d. in Arkport, N. Y., 21 April 1831. His wid. survived him nearly 10 years, living with her son Christopher, on the homestead. She received in 1840 a pension on account of her husbands services ; she d. 3 April 1841.

681 John Hurlbut 3d,[6] (John Jr,[5] John,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Groton, Ct., 21 Feb. 1760, m. in July 1786, Hannah Millet (b. 18 Nov. 1768,) dau. of Jonathan and Jane Millet. Mr. H. was but a little over 16 years of age, when he enlisted for a year in Revolutionary army, April 1776; like his brother Christopher, he was with Washington, and took part in the success at Trenton. He removed from Ct., to the Wyoming Valley, where his father located. From a diary of Mr. H., it is seen that he was at one time a school teacher. In May 1795, he left his home in Penn. for western New York, where he bought land. He returned, and sold his place in Hanover, and in July, of the same year, started with his family in a boat up the Susquehannah; his destination was Palmyra, N. Y., his future home. It is said that Mr. H. set up a distillery as early as 1796. [This was for the manufacture of whiskey no doubt, an industry extensively pursued in Pennsylvania in those days, a misfortune however to any people, yet not so clearly seen then, as to-day.] I notice in his diary, "1797, May 7, agreed with the printer of Ontario Gazette, for the paper at 14 shillings per year. May 11, raised my barn." [This barn was still standing in 1862.] "July 4, delivered an oration to a large concourse of people." The toast of Mr. H. at this celebration was, "may we cultivate the vine and the sheaf, in this New World, and furnish the Old with bread." "5th (July), the summer has been exceeding dry. 13th, Frost this morning." "Built my house on the street, and moved into it 28 Aug." Mr. H. was called "captain," and was a prominent citizen until his death, which occurred from the prevailing epidemic in Palmyra, N. Y., Feb. 1813. His wid. d. 29 June 1858.

Mr. H. is said to have been a man of strong mind, and retentive memory, read much, and was withal pretty well versed in the Law, though not a lawyer; he was Justice of the Peace, several years, and also Judge of Probate. He was furthermore a Methodist preacher, and occupied the pulpit where he lived, as long as he was able to preach, and after he became so infirm that he could not stand up, he would sometimes preach sitting. For his ministerial labors, he would receive no compensation. He was seldom far from home, was never in New York, and but once on Long Island, but lived and died near the place of his birth. He had no ch. of his own, but was appointed guardian of some of the ch. (all young) of his brother Asaph, who d. in 1810. One at least of these children, lived with this uncle more than 30 years, and I have his testimony, which reads that "he was like a father to us." II., grad. at Yale Coll., in 1818, and after pursuing theological studies at Andover, and also at Princeton, was licensed to preach, and he became Pastor of the 3d Presbyterian church at Albany, N. Y. From ill health he was soon obliged to retire from labor there, and he returned to New London. He did not however relinquish altogether his ministerial calling, but as his health would allow, continued in active service, whenever he thought he might be useful. His efforts in behalf of the remnant of the tribe of Indians, at Mohegan, may be named as one of his fields of gratuitous service. Much might be said regarding the example of this excellent man, his generous contribution of funds, his activity in the cause of educational interests, his industrious and patriotic efforts shown in behalf of erecting commodious and sightly structures in the city for schools, and religious worship, in place of the old and dilapidated.

Mr. Hurlbut d. in New London, 5 June 1875, leaving a widow and seven children. The funeral was largely attended, the services being conducted by Rev. Dr. O. E. Daggett, Pastor of the 2d Cong. ch'h New London, supplemented by a brief and touching address by Rev. Thos. L. Shipman, of Jewett City, a college classmate and life long friend. Rev. Dr. Thomas P. Field of the 1st ch'h concluded the services at the grave.

769 Wait Hurlbut[6] (Daniel[5], Joshua[4], Joseph, Jr.[3], Joseph[2], Thomas[1]) b. in Woodbury, Ct., and baptized in Woodbury, 29 March 1752. His name appears among those of the Revolutionary Soldiers, from Woodbury. ("Weight Hurlbut" by Act of Congress 1839 was allowed a pension $6 per mo. from 1 January 1838, probably the same man. A. Mr. Wait Hollibert seems to have res. in Arlington, Vt., in 1804, as I observe he was a subscriber to a Bennington printed book of that year. Yet, there appears the name of another Wait Hurlbut, son of Adam, perhaps cotemporary with this one.) I was told by a grand-nephew of Wait (son of Daniel) that he (Wait) emigrated to Franklin Co., Vt. Whether there was a wife and children or not, I shall leave for some one in the future, who will disentangle this, as well as many other knotty yarns.

770 Philo Hurlbut[6] (Daniel[5], Joshua[4], Joseph, Jr,[3] Joseph[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Woodbury, Ct., and was bap. in Woodbury, on 24 March, 1754. He was m. but the name of his wife not found, he is believed to have lived in Williston, Vt., and had no children. It is likely that he was the Philo Hurlbut, who at an earlier period lived in Arlington, Vt. (in 1772 and '3) and that his brother Wait, lived there many years later. Philo Hurlbut is referred to as one of those who rescued Remember Baker, who had been arrested by the New York authorities, during the strife of 1773, between the N. Y. and Vt. settlers.

771 Daniel Hurlbut, Jr.[6], Daniel[5], Joshua[4], Joseph, Jr.[3], Joseph[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Woodbury, Ct., 14 August 1758, bap. in Woodbury, 24 September 1758. He m. in Pittsfield, Mass., 20 Sept. 1778, Lucretia Noble (b. 20 January 1760) dau. of Capt. Asa Noble, of Westfield, Mass. It is said that he emigrated from Connecticut to Vermont, in the year 1787, first to Arlington, and then to Burlington. He continued to live in Chittendon Co., mostly it is said, at Hubbel's Falls, or what is now Essex Junction. In 1790, however, and several succeeding years, he appears to have lived in Burlington. He was the Daniel Hurlbut referred to in the Vermont Historical Gazetteer, of Miss Hemenway, as follows: "Daniel Hurlbut in February 1790, lived in a log house, near where in 1867, lived A. C. Spear, head of College street on College Green, Burlington. He was a rough, hard, powerful man in mind and body; the man to build bridges, the Burlington College, the turnpikes, and get out a raft for Quebec, the man to build up a country. He was one of the principal dealers in oak, and Norway and white pine timber for masts and ship building, which was shipped to Quebec." In 1795, Mr. H., was one of a committee to build a Court House at Burlington; he was probably still of Burlington, in 1800. Mrs. H., d. in Burlington, 11 July 1826. He d in Willington, Vt., 1 January 1847, in his 89th year.

Hannah Mosier (b. 7 June 1780), whose mother's name was Allen. Mr. H. removed to Canada with his parents, who settled on the banks of the St. Lawrence, nearly opposite Ogdensburgh, in or about the year 1785. At his death he had lived with his wife 55 years. Mr. H. was a thrifty farmer, and gave to each of his sons 200 acres of land. The old settlers used to call him Mr. Holliburt. The old farm formerly occupied by Mr. H. and where all his children were born and raised, is still called home by his descendants. Fourteen of his children lived to be men and women; four were ministers of the Gospel; two were lawyers; three were farmers. A brother and, 2 maiden sisters in 1861, lived on the homestead. in 1882, these ladies were living in the village of Prescott. Mr. Heman Hurlbut, d. at the homestead, 24 Nov. 1853, aged 80 years, "a man of sterling worth and integrity." Mrs. H. d. 23 March 1857. the compiler of this book was a clerk in the P. O., in the city of Troy, N. Y. I was a boy of 14, and my brother who was older, was clerk in the drug store of Messrs. Gale & Thompson, where the P. O., was situated. I well remember my brother showing me a due bill of an Iron Company (located I think in Peru, N. Y.), for a small amount, and which seemed to have been issued for currency, by way of change. Taken in trade it was sent home to the office of the company, and in due time a remittance was received in payment. But what I wished to say particularly, is, the due bill bore the signature of Mr. E. A. Hurlbut; and what impressed itself on my memory was not only the name but the elegance in the writing of the signature, not bearing much similarity to the one here presented from a letter, which he wrote me the year preceding his death.) (1) 27 Nov. 1806, Mary Butler, of West Hartford, Ct., she d. 12 Mar. 1812. The name of the lady and the dates given, are according to the late Hon. E. Stearn's notes ; but Dea. Andrews was confident that Louisa Butler was the first wife of Mr. H. No member of his large family as far as I know however could furnish an accurate and reliable record. I have picked up from various sources what is here presented. I have given (agreeable to Dea. Alfred Andrew's account), two children to first wife of Samuel, but the remainder as per statement of Mr. Stearn's. Mr. H., m. (2) 18 Nov. 1813, Catharine Goodman, of Hartford, though Dea. Andrews says (I believe erroneously) that her name was Abigail Webster. Mr. Hurlbut was a farmer and lived in West Hartford ; joined church 18 June 1808. The house of Mr. H., where he resided in West Hartford many years, was the birth-place of the eminent Lexicographer Noah Webster, who was b. in Oct. 1758. Dr. Webster, cherished a warm affection for the home of his childhood, to which he made his last visit about a year before his death ; he then requested Mr. Hurlbut to take good care of a certain grapevine (probably planted by himself) situated about 20 rods N. W. of the house. [Dr. Webster, d. 1843], Mr. H., d. 9 Mar. 1861. I am not altogether confident that the following presentation of the ch. is correct. The reports of Mr. Stearn's and Dea. Andrew's are so different, that I am not able to make the matter clear.

1178 Hiram Hurlbut[7] (Elisha,[6] Samuel, Jr.,[5] Samuel,[4] Thomas,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Gt. Barrington, Mass., 2 Sept. 1806. He lost his parents when not much over six years of age, and I have his own assurance that he was bound out, not long after his father's death, and I conclude that the lad received rather indifferent treatment to use a mild term. He wrote me that he never left his master's home until he was 20 years old, and said he "bare-headed, bare-footed, without education, and green as any gourd I started." But the young man had great natural intelligence, activity and industry, and success attended his efforts. From the slight advantages of his boyhood, he won his way as a farm hand, a boatman, a clock-peddler, a hotel-keeper, a merchant and farmer. He met with a severe loss through the misdeeds of his partner in business, but his good character brought him friends to his rescue, and he was soon enabled to regain his feet and I learn that he achieved again a fair competence. He was prominently identified with the growth of McArthur, O. He held office in the military of the state, and for more than 40 years was a worthy member of the Methodist church. His death occurred at Chillicothe, O., 24 or 25 Dec. 1885. He m. a Miss Wells (b. in Highland, Sullivan Co., N. Y.), dau. of Samuel J. Wells. Besides the son named below, there are 5 other ch., as I am informed, 4 daus. and a son, all I think m. and though addressed as directed, no response came from either.

1295 Sidney Smith Hurlbut[7] (Jonathan,[6] Samuel,[5] David, Jr.,[4] David,[3] John.[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Benson, Vt., 27 Oct. 1805, m. in Oswega, N. Y., at the dwelling of her sister Mrs. Robert H. Martin (Rev. John McCarty officiating) 30 Sept. 1837, Ann Eliza Warner (b. 16 March, year not learned) dau. of Henry and Elizabeth (Ostrander) Warner, of Hartford, Ct. Mr. H. rem. with his parents in the spring of 1814, to the village of Hoosick Falls, N. Y. In his studies he excelled in mathematics, was an expert with the Gunter's rule or scale, by which he used to say, could be solved any question in arithmetic; and such was his proficiency in penmanship, he was called to a neighboring town at the age of 16 to teach a class in writing. In latter part of 1823 or early in 1824 he was engaged as a clerk of Messrs. Gale & Thompson, in Troy, N. Y., where he continued some six years. After a clerkship of a year in New York city, and a like term in New Orleans, he went with a small cargo, mostly dry goods to sell in Mexico; but after many months of untoward and vexatious experience in the enterprise, he was willing to turn his face northward and towards home, little if any better off than when he left. In 1835 he took a position as book-keeper in the Oswego Bank at Oswego, N. Y. He had a taste for military practice, and held several appointments, one bearing the signature of Col. Geo. R. Davis in 1823, another of Gov. De Witt Clinton in 1827, and a third of Gov. W. L. Marcy in 1836. He was the principal originator in 1838 of that fine corps known as the Oswego Guards, and was chosen its first commandant. He was elected Captain of the Oswego Fire Co., Number 2 in 1836, and Mayor McWhorter's commission to him bears the city seal in Aug. of that year. In the autumn of 1843, Capt. H. with his family removed to Racine, Wis., where he bought with his brother, a warehouse and lot, and one-eighth of the undivided and unplatted tract known afterward as "Sage's Addition" to Racine.

[The said "one-eighth" they bought of the late Judge Peter D. Hugunin (formerly of Oswego, N. Y., then staying with his son near Kenosha, Wis.), who had purchased it of Messrs. Butterfield and Collins of Chicago, the lawyers employed by Mr. Sage to defend his claim from parties who attempted to cheat him out of it, by what was termed a "float" or some other specious or tricky sort of a swindle. But the attorneys for Mr. Sage were successful, and his title was confirmed, and the patent issued; the ⅛ of the tract above named was what the said attorneys received as their fees.]

Capt. H. was awhile in the business of the warehouse, but much longer engaged in milling in Racine, and also in Whitewater, Wis. In 1864 he spent the year in assisting his brother on a cotton plantation near Vicksburg, Miss. The cotton-fields, however of that year were doomed to destruction from the devouring worms; not enough cotton even at the enormously high price in the market, was saved sufficient to pay expenses; and a loss of several thousand dollars was incurred.

It is proper here to state that Capt. H. from early youth, employed much of his leisure time in mechanical invention. In his boyhood he was a curious worker in bone and ivory. Some of his later inventions in farming implements, were of much value to others if not to himself; indeed he received no important renumeration for his skill, until about 1870, when his invention of an improved wagon lock, which he commenced to manufacture in Racine, resulted in success, and a tolerable fortune. He d. in Racine, Wis., Aug. 8, 1884, of what was usually called a disease of the stomach, after many months of painful progress of the ailment. His remains were buried in Mound cemetery, Racine.

1297 Henry Higgins Hurlbut[7] (Jonathan[6], Samuel[5], David, Jr.[4], David[3], John[2], Thomas[1]) was b. at the home of his grand-aunt Mrs. Phineas Bartlett, in Westhampton, Mass,

22 Apr. 1813, m. in Racine, Wis., 3 Dec. 1857 (Rev. Dr. Z. M. Humphrey, officiating) Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth (Sykes) Graves, (b. in Bakersfield, Vt., 17 Sept. 1823), dau. of Dr. Royal S., and Harriet Partridge (Pratt) Sykes, and widow of Dr. Samuel H. Graves. [Besides claiming four of the passengers of the Mayflower as her ancestors, to wit : Mr. and Mrs. Mullins and their dau. Priscilla, and her future husband John Alden, there might be named many other early worthies in the list, such as Henry Adams, Sr., of Braintree, Robert Adams, of Salem, Richard Sykes, of Springfield, Lancelot Granger, Samuel Bass, Sr., George Partridge, French, Tracy, etc., etc.]

The earliest memories of Mr. Hurlbut, were those connected with the village of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., to which place his father removed in the spring of 1814. Though a humble dwelling was that which my father built and moved into in 1816, and the griefs of early years are ever attendant, I yet look back upon mine as the happiest of childhood's homes.

During the greater part of 1826 and 1827 he (meaning myself), was the junior of the two clerks employed in the city of Troy, N. Y., Post Office ; the junior was a boy of 13. In 1828, or a part of that year, he was attending the academy in Cambridge, N. Y. The three succeeding years, he was either in school or assisting as clerk in one of the stores of the village. In 1832, he went into the Oswego Bank, at Oswego, N. Y., as book-keeper ; afterward made teller, and in 1834, appointed cashier, which position he held until the Bank closed its doors in 1843. [It will not be improper here to say, being a part of the history of an institution with which Mr. H., was connected, that one of the Directors of the Bank above named, not succeeding in his election as President of the Board, concluded as it seemed to declare war, or in other words rule or ruin. Revenge is a very old-fashioned trait, and one of the most unamiable also, which afflicts many of the human family. So, in the case referred to, every other consideration besides revenge, it is strongly suspected, had to stand aside. The condition of the little Bank was not such as to withstand much of a seige, for like many other banks at the time, it was loaded down with real estate, taken as security for slow paper ; the Institution needed to be carefully nursed rather than to suffer bleeding, The bank stood well with the public generally, and was the only one in the county ; but no one with the needful, chose to go in to the rescue, and the Board thought they would let the bank subside ; and they did.] Mr. H., rem. to Wisconsin in the Fall of 1843, and in the 40 subsequent years was engaged in varied occupations which need not here be detailed.

Sidney A Hurlbut

1455. Wm. Henry Hurlbut[7] (Martin Luther[6], Stephen[5], John[4], Stephen[3], Samuel[2], Thomas[1]) was b. in Charleston, S. C., the first child of his parents. He is said to have been a remarkable boy, and was fitted to enter college at the age of eight years. He d. in Charleston, aged about ten.

Gen. Hurlbut studied and practiced law in S. Carolina, having been admitted to the bar in 1837. In the Florida or Seminole War, he served as adjutant in a S. C. Regt. He removed to Ill., in 1845 and settled in Belvidere in the practice of his profession; was member of the Ill. Constitutional Convention in 1847; for several terms member of Ill. Legislature. In May 1861 was appointed Brig. Gen. of Ill., Vols; had command of Fort Donelson after its capture. Commanded 4th division and took part in battle of Shiloh, etc.; was made Maj. Gen.; was Res. Minister to Columbia 1869-72; member of Congress from Ill., 2 terms, and appointed by Pres. Garfield, Minister to Peru. He was without doubt a man of superior ability, and a brilliant orator. From a tribute paid to his memory after his decease, by Gen. John C. Long, Asst. Adj-Gen. of 4th Div., Army of the Tennesee, I make a brief extract. "April 6, 1862, at the commencement of the battle of Shiloh or Pittsburg Landing, when Gen. Prentiss' division was surprised and driven in, Gen. Hurlbut ordered me to form the division and order all the drum corps I could find to the head of the column, because as he said he made up his mind long before, that when he did go into battle with his division, it should be with music and flying colors; and so amidst the smoke and din of battle, and the retreating and demoralized troops from Gen. Prentiss' command, we moved rapidly to the front and formed in line of battle, just in time to check the advance of the enemy with a steady and well directed fire. When it is taken into consideration that Gen. Hurlbut had never been in a battle before, and had only had experience in the S. Carolina Militia, and as a captain of a Militia company in Belvidere, Ill., it is surprising how well and coolly he handled his division. During the early part of the engagement, he rode out in front of the division, mounted upon his large gray stallion, which made him a very conspicuous mark for sharpshooters, and surveyed the enemy through his field-glass for some time, and when he returned to the rear we remonstrated with him for the reckless exposure of himself, and his answer was that most of the division were strangers to him, and he was determined to convince them on the start that he was no coward. In fact, from that time forward none of us doubted his courage. * * * * All that is necessary for me to say in order to convey some idea of how terrific and destructive the firing was in front of the division during the two days continuous fighting, is, that we lost one man out of every three, or full one third of the whole division ; and to show how dangerous it was to follow Gen. Hurlbut about during the battle, or to remain by his side, I will state the fact that out of the three orderlies that I detailed on Sunday morning to assist him in carrying orders, before night two of them were killed, and as for myself, it was a very severe strain upon my courage, and although I was not wounded, there was a bullet-hole through the top of my cap and another through my coat sleeve. * * * * But perhaps the time when he displayed the best generalship, and when the division had the best opportunity of showing the mettle of which it was composed, was at the battle of Hatchie River. * * * They moved rapidly across the river, filed right and left, faced to the front as coolly as if on dress parade, charged upon at least three times their own number, driving them three or four miles, pressing them so hard, that they nearly all threw away their accoutrements so as to be in light running order ; and well they might, for Steve Hurlbut on his big gray horse, and the old 4th division were after them, and it was no child's play. * * * He had his faults, but his virtues so far out numbered them, that those of us who knew him best, forget them."

Gen. Hurlbut d. in Lima, Peru, 27 March 1882.

1462 Wm. Henry Hurlbut[7] (Martin Luther,[6] Stephen,[5] John,[4] Stephen,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in Charleston, S. C., 3 July 1827.

The following is copied from Johnson's Cyclopedia. "He was grad. at Harvard college 1847, at Harvard Divinity School in 1849 ; went the same year to the universisy of Berlin, and the next to Rome and Paris. In 1852 he entered Harvard Law School, and in 1853 went to the West Indies; in 1854 published Pictures of Cuba; in 1855 joined the staff of Putnam's Magazine and the Albion; in 1856 went to England; in 1857 joined the New York Times; in 1858 travelled through England, Germany, and Russia; In 1862 joined the New York World; spent 1866 '67 in travelling through Mexico, Austria, Hungary, and Italy; visited Suez in 1869; the Ecumenical Council at Rome in 1870; San Domingo in 1871; revisited Mexico in 1871, and again in 1872; in 1873 visited Spanish America, to Cape Horn, returning by Monte Video, Brazil, Portugal and England; author of Gen. Mc Clellan and the Conduct of the War, 1864, etc."

It is generally conceded that Mr. Hurlbut has proved himself an accomplished editor, a writer of much force and brilliancy.

Mr. H. in answer to a communication addressed him by the compiler of this volume, said in his letter bearing date 14 April 1863, that his father was of the opinion that the family name should be spelt Hulbert, though he as well as all his sons with one exception (relating to Mr. W. H. H., to be referred to) had always written it Hurlbut. Mr. H. had frequently understood his father to say, that Stephen (the grandfather of my correspondent) had made the change to Hurlbut. This Mr. H. considered a mistake on the part of his grandfather, and he felt "quite convinced" that the name ought to be spelt Hulbert; yet, like all others who have entertained similar convictions, he has failed to present evidence to substantiate it. Of course I do not assert that his impression may not be correct, however skeptical I may be till the proof is forthcoming.

It was somewhat of an amusing incident, by which Mr. H. was forced to get back part of the way at least toward the orthography of his (supposed) old world fathers, and adopt an innovation for which it would seem he was scarcely ready. He said: "Some years ago I happened (my chirography not being absolutely perfect) to give an order for some visiting cards in London. The cards came home engraved Hurlbert, and as I was on my way to Paris and in some haste, I took them, and have ever since used that plate. This is however a mere compromise, and all persons, who respect etymological laws and the truth of history even in small matters, ought to spell the name Hulbert."

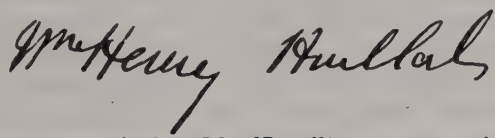
Mr. H. m. in Yorkshire, Eng., 9 Aug. 1884, Miss Katharine Parker Tracy of New York. The service was solemnized in the little parish church of St. Chads (Rev. Mr. Smyth officiating) near Kirkstall Grange, the elegant mansion of Mr. Ernst Beckett Denison (not far from Leeds) where the wedding party assembled. The gathering at the grange was a brilliant one, including many of the nobility and others of prominence. A merry breakfast was partaken of at the mansion after the ceremony; Mr. and Mrs. H. and her sister Mrs. Lee of New York soon started on a tour to the lakes of Cumberland.



It is not expected that Mr. H. will return to America to reside.

Winchester, Ct., 21 April 1826, m. in Morgan, O., 29 April 1851 Celia Almira Latimer (b. in Morgan, O., 29 April 1832).

Mr. H. in his early years worked on the farm, and in April 1843 accompanied his father's family to Ohio, where they settled at Hartsgrove, Ashtabula Co. He was awhile a teacher in the public schools. Becoming interested in the subject of religion, he was after his conversion impressed with the idea that his duty was to become a minister of the Gospel. In March 1849, he was licensed as an exhorter; and in that year he went to Chagrin Falls circuit as a supply, where a vacancy had occurred. He joined Erie Conference at Painesville, O., in 1850; was ordained deacon at Jamestown, N. Y., in 1852, and elder at Cleveland, O., in 1854. For 25 years he was engaged in the active work, holding many of the highest places of trust in the conference, serving repeatedly as presiding elder and delegate to the General conference, etc. In 1869 he received from Willoughby College the honor of M. A., and in 1871, Mount Union College conferred upon him that of D. D.

During the late war he was eleven months chaplain in the 29th Ohio regiment of Vols. Dr. Hurlbut wrote the compiler of this volume in February, 1863:

"Suffice it to say that I was twice under fire and know how it feels to be shot at by an enemy. I think I stood the fire pretty well. Those that have never heard the wild, unearthly screeching of a shell, cannot imagine the feelings it will give a man to stand in the midst of their terrible carnage."

In 1863 and '64, Dr. H. was at Youngstown, O. Owing to declining health, in 1874 he continued the study of medicine commenced in early life, and attended lectures at the Cleveland Homeopathic Med. College, at which he grad. in 1876.

He practiced medicine in Youngstown, O., about a year, and. in spring of 1877 rem. to Marion, Iowa, where he remained.

"For nearly 40 years he was a devoted and efficient member of the Meth. Episcopal ch'h ; he was a brother to every man. He was positive in feeling, action and expression, yet made no enemies. As a physician he was eminently successful ; when he found his medical skill unavailing, he could comfort the dying with Christian love and tender words, and point them to the Great Physician."

Dr. H. d. in Marion, Iowa, after a brief illness of eight days His wid. res. in Marion.

Y., 8 Jan. 1847, Catharine Cuyler Van Vechten (b. in Albany, 8 June 1826) dau. of Teunis and Catharine C. Gansevoort) Van Vechten. [Teunis Van Vechten was a son of Teunis T. and Elizabeth (De Wandelaer) Van Vechten ; his wife Catharine C. Gansevoort, was dau. of Leonard Gansevoort all of Albany.] Mr. H., was bred to the profession of law, and after its practice at Little Falls, N. Y., some six years, he rem. to the city of New York, in the autumn of 1835. Here he continued in the practice of his profession until 1847, when he was elected a judge of the Supreme Court for the district and city ; Judge Hurlbut filled this eminent position with distinguished ability, and after nearly four years of judicial life, he resigned the office by reason of impaired health, and retired into the country. In 1860, he settled in the town of Bethlehem, his present residence near Albany. Judge H. has written with ability upon several topics of public interest, some of which I name here as follows: "Civil Office and Political Ethics," 1840; a book of essays on "Human Rights and their Political Guarantees;" also a pamphlet of considerable length in 1870, entitled "Religion in the State, and the Bible in the Schools"; besides numerous addresses and lectures, published in the newspapers. Much to our regret Judge Hurlbut, within a few months past, (in 1887) has been prostrated from a paralytic attack.

2313 Vincent Lumbard Hurlbut[8] (Horatio Nelson,[7] Jesse,[6] Samuel[5], David Jr.,[4] David,[3] John,[2] Thomas[1]) was b. in West Mendon, N. Y., 28 June 1829. At an early age he removed with his parents to Jefferson, O., where he received educational advantages at the Academy, and when 17 years of age, choosing the medical profession, he received special attention in his studies from his father Dr. H. N. Hurlbut, and also from Prof. Horace A. Ackley, of the Medical College of Cleveland, O., at which institution, he attended several courses of lectures. His father removed to Chicago, in 1851, and he soon also found himself a resident there, and entered Rush Medical College, where he grad. in 1852. He soon commenced practice, and his ability and industry won him reputation and decided success. Without special enumeration, I may say that he has had close relationship with numerous medical societies and institutions, both at home and abroad, holding various honorable official positions. He has been a close student in the progress of new discoveries and methods of treatment in medical science, and has also found time to devote to other branches of human inquiry and interest. He has given special attention to "the rise, progress, and character of Free Masonary, and has been an enthusiastic member and worker in all its grades." He possessed, not only a rare and extensive medical library, but also one of the best private masonic libraries in the country, which however met with utter distruction in the great fire of October, 1871. The various and distinguished offices of the Masonic order conferred upon Dr. H. would require nearly an additional page of this notice, but I will just say that he was elected "Grand Generalissimo at the Grand Encampment of Knight Templers of the U. S. A," in Baltimore, 1871, and "Grand Master," in Cleveland, in 1877. In concluding this brief account, I will quote from a published and more extended article, as follows: "In the prime of manhood, affable, genial and intelligent, unselfish and generous to a fault, he is the Royal Prince of good companionship and fellowship, and is justly held in high esteem by all who have proved his professional abilty." Dr. H. is unm.

W. of Bull Run battle field, and was a prisoner about a week; he was honorably discharged after three years service. [War like some other things makes "strange bed-fellows" sometimes, as the following incident may show, which happened in the army experience of Mr. H. It was a chilly evening at the close of an autumn day in 1863, when Mr. H. like others of his comrades after a tiresome watch in guarding a ford in the neighborhood of Warrenton, Va., sought a place for the night's repose. Meeting in the dusk of evening, what he supposed to be a sleeping soldier stretched upon the ground and comfortably covered with a blanket, he said "Two blankets are better than one, and if you have no objection old fellow, I will keep you company to-night." So, spreading his own blanket and getting under the other one, he snuggled along side of his newly found friend, and was soon fast asleep. Mr. H. was of course somewhat surprised, when he awoke in the morning, and throwing aside the covering, he discovered the features of his companion of the night were rigid in death. It was a cavalry man who had been killed there the morning before.] Mr. Hurlbut was sometime engaged on the Racine and Mississippi R. R., but later was with his father in the manufactory of wagon locks, resulting afterwards in the "Hurlbut Manf. Co." of Racine, Wis. No ch.

I have failed to receive ; but the substance of the following story I was told by his sister many years ago). He enlisted as a private in the 55th Reg. of Ill. Vol., but was subsequently selected as a musician ; he was fife-major at the battle of Shiloh when he was wounded in the right arm. Before going into the battle he secreted under his blouse, a revolver and a good supply of cartridges, determined to use them if opportunity offered. A soldier was killed near him in the action, and Hurlbut, flourishing his fife above his head threw it far from him, seized the dead soldier's musket, broke and left his company in the rear and joined others nearer the enemy. His captain supposed he was crazy, from the strangeness of the freak, yet the musician made good use of his cartridges, and fired several rounds with his revolver, after his wound compelled him to drop the musket.

In June, 1862, he was on furlough, waiting at Durand, Ill., for his wound to get cured sufficiently to return to the Army.

Brainerd.

83 Mary Hurlbut, dau. of David and Mary, was born in Upper Houses, now Cromwell, Ct., 15 Dec. 1709. My correspondent the late Hon. Edwin Stearns, said she m. Hezekiah Brainerd, Jr., of Haddam. She was admitted to the ch'h in Middle Haddam Soc. Chatham, 16 Dec. 1740. They settled in Chatham, where he d. 14 Dec. 1774. The will of Hezekiah Brainerd Jr., was dated 22 Feb. 1768, and proved in Middletown Probate Court, 2 Jan. 1775. He bequeathed to his wife Mary, lands at Beaver Brook in Chatham, and also at Long Hill, Middletown; four children are named in the will; wife Mary and son Hezekiah Jr., executors. The date of her death not ascertained.

It will be proper to note that in the printed volume of the Brainerd Genealogy, p. 236, the name of the wife of Hezekiah Brainerd Jr, is given as Mary, the dau. of Rev. Thomas Fiske, and the date of m. 26 Jan. 1731. Possibly however, Mary Hurlbut may have been a 2d wife of Mr. B. In the will of David Hurlbut, the name of Mary Brainerd his dau. appears, yet it may be that her husband was not Hezekiah Jr. The number of six children appears in the Brainerd book; perhaps all were not of one mother.

Nichols.

1296 Dolly Diana Hurlbut, dau. of Jonathan and Persis, was b. in Benson, Vt., 1 April 1807. At the age of seven years her father's family rem. to the village of Hoosick Falls, N. Y The villagers were mostly mechanics and day-laborers, and all of them in moderate circumstances. It is however a creditable fact, regarding the intelligence of the people, that the tone of feeling among them, was favorable to the interests of education. This sentiment pervading the hamlet, favored the invitation to graduates or others from N. E or N. Y. colleges, competent teachers for the village. The select schools of that locality for a series of years in those days, were certainly superior to the villages generally, of its size and pecuniary ability. Its reputation in this respect extended to neighboring towns, and not a few pupils from abroad sought the advantages there to be gained. Some of those teachers referred to, were prominent in after years, in worthy positions. I recall a few of their names. There were Messrs Center, Savage, Rice, Hervey, Twiss, McVicker, Hard and others Not only were the English branches taught, but the languages of the Classics were successfully pursued; not a few children of the mechanics of the village waded far into the depths of Cæsar and Virgil. Even the compiler of this genealogy, at the age of 9 or 10 years, at the exhibition of a closing term of his instruction, was called on (to show off of course, the teacher's ability as well as the boy's proficiency) in Latin. (I am quite sure that the boy knew more of the languages then than he does to-day). Sciences and the arts, also were not neglected, teachers from the Rensselaer Institute, with the portable laboratory of Prof. Amos Eaton gave engaging lectures in chemistry; and classes were formed for botanical research. I need not say more upon the matter, excepting that it will not be considered surprising that Miss H. was early fitted as a teacher, and that her services were made available in the township and among its neighbors Subsequently she was a teacher in New Fane, Vt., and afterward was an assistant in the Academy at Brattleboro, Vt. (the late Worthington Smith being principal). Miss H. m. at the Presbyterian ch'h at Hoosick Falls, N. Y. (Rev. Ebenezer Cheever officiating) 25 July 1830, Rev. Cyrus Nichols (b. in Reading, Mass, 31 Oct, 1799) son of James and Lydia (Hosea) Nichols.

Mr. N. was a Pres. clergyman, having grad at Williams' College and Auburn Theological Seminary. After his marriage he first rem. to Palmyra, Mo., and was engaged some time in raising funds to establish the college located at Philadelphia, Mo; but rem. to Wisconsin in 1836. He was a pioneer in the territory, and is believed to have preached the first sermon where the city of Racine is now. He organized various churches throughout the territory, among them the First Presbyterian ch'h of Racine, and also established numerous Sunday schools. He preached at Prairie Village, Wis. (now Waukesha) 49 years ago, and where his family were residing They lived mostly in the town of Caledonia (a few miles from Racine, Wis.), where their golden wedding was celebrated in July 1880. His death occurred in Racine (to which city the family had rem. not long before) Saturday 10 Feb 1883. His wid. res. in Racine.

On a journey from Racine to Buffalo, N. Y., on board the Propeller, Troy, of which her brother in law Capt Byron was master, the vessel and nearly all which embarked on it, were lost during a severe gale on Lake Huron by the swamping of the small boat, after they had left the sinking vessel, 18 Oct. 1859.

From the testimony of three who were saved, it was learned that Miss H. showed great calmness and presence of mind in the trying hour, encouraging the other females of the group who were nearly frantic in despair. She was unm,

Byron; Pell.

1312 Bethia Ann Hurlbut dau. of Daniel H. and Catharine, was b. in Mich. City, Ind., 9 April 1836, m. in Racine, Wis., Henry John Byron. He was a Lake Captain, and is said to have been a capable and faithful officer. At the time of his death he was commander of the Propeller Troy, on the passage of that vessel from Lake Michigan to Buffalo She was caught in the gale on Lake Huron, 18 Oct. 1859, and all who had sailed with the vessel, excepting three persons were lost. Capt Byron, with the passengers and some of the crew, left the sinking vessel in the life-boat; when last seen by those that were saved, he was standing up in the boat, with head uncovered, his hair streaming in the wind. It was believed that the oars of the boat had been washed away, leaving it at the mercy of the waves.

APPENDIX. PART II.

The families below are some of those which I have not been able to identify as kin of the one before given in these pages; possibly the items here shown, may enable others interested, to perfect a satisfactory research.

Elisha Hurlbut, of Canaan, Ct. The parentage of this gent. is not yet established. I have much believed and still think that he may have been the the Elisha, son of Joseph and Sybil (No. 181) of the preceeding record, whose destination has not been learned.

[One possible pointer towards the identity which I have suggested, is the fact that Ann a niece of Elisha, son of Joseph, of Wethersfield, m. Mr. Kellogg, in Canaan, Ct. Was she visiting her uncle Elisha there?]

Elisha Hurlbut, of Canaan, Ct., m. "Elnor," at least so the name of his wife is given on the Canaan records, though his descendant Mrs. Hyde calls the name of his wife Alta (or "Helichor" in Dutch) Hugaboom, of Dutch descent. Perhaps Mr. H. in August 1787, owned land in the adjoining town of Salisbury, Ct., as his name appears in the land records there of that date. It is believed that about the year 1790, he rem. to Vermont, and is understood to have lived with his children. If he was the person I have supposed (referred to above) he was b. in 1729, and was, it is likely not far from 60 years old at time of his removal to Vermont. He is said to have been a large, portly, fine-looking man, but when aged was somewhat intemperate. His wife d. before him in Cornwall, Vt. He d. in same town, in or near the year 1808. It is proper to add here that the descendants of Elisha generally, write the name Hulbert.

Lucy, b. in Canaan, Ct., 11 Dec. 1756. +
Elizabeth, b. in Canaan, 7 January 1758 (d. unm.) non. com. ment.
Jane (or "Yonake," on the record), b. in Canaan, 20 Feb. 1759. +

Elijah Hurlbut, of Windham.

Elijah Hurlbut, or "Holibut" as my correspondent the late Mr. W L. Weaver, said the church records at Windham, have it, was probably in Windham before his marriage, but where he came from is not ascertained. [In looking to the descendants of Thomas, of Wethersfield, Ct., for this Elijah, I am inclined to the inquiry, if he was possibly the son of Timothy (No. 9) or of Titus (No. 28) or of Stephen Jr. (No. 41).]

Elijah settled in the First Society, and remained until after 1734; but before 1737, he rem. to the 3d Society ("Scotland"). Ebenezer Hurlbut, of Vermont, it is suggested may have been the Ebenezer No 63 in the fore part of this volume. Mr. H. was early in the town of Bromley, Vt., having rem. there before the close of the Revolution. That town was in the north east corner of Benningtou, Co. Vt., and was chartered by Gov. Wentworth in 1761, but the town was first organized under the name of Peru, in spring of 1802. The statement in the Vermont Historical Gazette, that in the year 1800, there were but four families in the town, and Mr Hurlbut's not mentioned is no doubt an error by reliable information. Mr. H. had a son born there in 1781, and he was one of the Selectmen of the town organization in 1802. The name of his wife, nor the dates of his and her death no learned.

It has been a matter of inquiry, if the above first named Ebenezer Hurlbut, the settler at Bromley, Vt., may not have been the father of the following family, as well as identical with the Ebenezer No. 63 before named. The items reached me from a different quarter from those given above, but there seems some probability in the suggestion made.
